A CONSTITUTION

OR

FORM OF GOVERNMENT

FOR THE

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

PREAMBLE.

The end of the institution, maintenance, and administration of government, is to secure the existence of the body politic, to protect it, and to furnish the individuals who compose it with the power of enjoying in safety and tranquillity their natural rights, and the blessings of life: and whenever these great objects are not obtained, the people have a right to alter the government, and to take measures necessary for their safety, prosperity, and happiness.

The body politic is formed by a voluntary association of individuals: it is a social compact, by which the whole people covenants with each citizen, and each citizen with the whole people, that all shall be governed by certain laws for the common good. It is the duty of the people, therefore, in framing a constitution of government, to provide for an equitable mode of making laws, as well as for an impartial interpretation and a faithful execution of them; that every man may, at all times, find his security in them.

We, therefore, the people of Massachusetts, acknowledging, with grateful hearts, the goodness of the great Legislator of the universe, in affording us, in the course of His providence, an opportunity, deliberately and peaceably, without fraud, violence, or surprise, of entering into an original, explicit, and solemn compact with each other; and of forming a new constitution of civil government, for ourselves and posterity; and devoutly imploring His direction in so interesting a design, do agree upon, ordain, and establish, the following Declaration of Rights, and Frame of Government, as the CONSTITUTION OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

PART THE FIRST.

A Declaration of the Rights of the Inhabitants of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Equality and natural rights of all men.

ARTICLE I. All men are born free and equal, and have certain natural, essential, and unalienable rights; among which may be reckoned the right of enjoying and defending their lives and liberties; that of acquiring, possessing, and protecting property; in fine, that of seeking and obtaining their safety and happiness.

Right and duty of public religious worship. Protection therein.
2 Cush. 104.
12 Allen, 129.

II. It is the right as well as the duty of all men in society, publicly, and at stated seasons, to worship the SUPREME BEING, the great Creator and Preserver of the universe. And no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience; or for his religious profession of sentiments; provided he doth not disturb the public peace, or obstruct others in their religious worship.

Amendments, Art. XI substituted for this.

III. [As the happiness of a people, and the good order and preservation of civil government, essentially depend upon piety, religion, and morality; and as these cannot be generally diffused through a community but by the institution of the public worship of God, and of public instructions in piety, religion, and morality: Therefore, to promote their happiness, and to secure the good order and preservation of their government, the people of this commonwealth have a right to invest their legislature with power to authorize and require, and the legislature shall, from time to time, authorize and require, the several towns, parishes, precincts, and other bodies politic, or religious societies, to make suitable provision, at their own expense, for the institution of the public worship of God, and for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality, in all cases where such provision shall not be made voluntarily.

Legislature empowered to compel provision for public worship;

And the people of this commonwealth have also a right to, and do, invest their legislature with authority to enjoin upon all the subjects an attendance upon the instructions of the public teachers aforesaid, at stated times and seasons, if there be any on whose instructions they can conscientiously and conveniently attend.

Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, precincts, and other bodies politic, or religious societies, shall, at all times, have the exclusive right of electing their public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance.

And all moneys paid by the subject to the support of public worship, and of the public teachers aforesaid, shall, if he require it, be uniformly applied to the support of the public teacher or teachers of his own religious sect or denomination, provided there be any on whose instructions he attends; otherwise it may be paid towards the support of the teacher or teachers of the parish or precinct in which the said moneys are raised.

And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves peaceably, and as good subjects of the commonwealth, shall be equally under the protection of the law: and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law.]

IV. The people of this commonwealth have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves, as a free, sovereign, and independent state; and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right, which is not, or may not hereafter be, by them expressly delegated to the United States of America, in Congress assembled.

V. All power residing originally in the people, and being derived from them, the several magistrates and officers of government, vested with authority, whether legislative, executive, or judicial, are their substitutes and agents, and are at all times accountable to them.

VI. No man, nor corporation, or association of men, have any other title to obtain advantages, or particular and exclusive privileges, distinct from those of the community, than what arises from the consideration of services rendered to the public; and this title being in nature neither hereditary, nor transmissible to children, and to enjoin attendance thereon.

Exclusive right of electing religious teachers secured.

Option as to whom parochial taxes may be paid, unless, etc.

All denominations equally protected. 8 Met. 162. Subordination of one sect to another prohibited.

Right of self government secured.

Accountability of all officers, etc.

Services rendered to the public being the only title to peculiar privileges, hereditary offices are absurd and unnatural.

or descendants, or relations by blood, the idea of a man born a magistrate, lawgiver, or judge, is absurd and unnatural.

Objects of government; right of people to institute and change it.

VII. Government is instituted for the common good; for the protection, safety, prosperity, and happiness of the people; and not for the profit, honor, or private interest of any one man, family, or class of men: Therefore the people alone have an incontestable, unalienable, and infeasible right to institute government; and to reform, alter, or totally change the same, when their protection, safety, prosperity, and happiness require it.

Right of people to secure rotation in office.

VIII. In order to prevent those who are vested with authority from becoming oppressors, the people have a right, at such periods and in such manner as they shall establish by their frame of government, to cause their public officers to return to private life; and to fill up vacant places by certain and regular elections and appointments.

All, having the qualifications prescribed, equally eligible to office. For the definition of "inhabitant," see Ch. I, Sect. 2, Art. II.

IX. All elections ought to be free; and all the inhabitants of this commonwealth, having such qualifications as they shall establish by their frame of government, have an equal right to elect officers, and to be elected, for public employments.

122 Mass. 595, 596.

Right of protection and duty of contribution correlative.

X. Each individual of the society has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property, according to standing laws. He is obliged, consequently, to contribute his share to the expense of this protection; to give his personal service, or an equivalent, when necessary: but no part of the property of any individual can, with justice, be taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of the representative body of the people. In fine, the people of this commonwealth are not controllable by any other laws than those to which their constitutional representative body have given their consent. And whenever the public exigencies require that the property of any individual should be appropriated to public uses, he shall receive a reasonable compensation therefor.

Taxation founded on consent.

Remedies, by recourse to the law, to be free, complete and prompt.

XI. Every subject of the commonwealth ought to find a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property, or character. He ought to obtain right and justice freely, and without being obliged to purchase it; completely, and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

XII. No subject shall be held to answer for any crimes or offence, until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him; or be compelled to accuse, or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to him; to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defence by himself, or his counsel, at his election. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers, or the law of the land.

XIV. Every subject has a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches, and seizures, of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Liberty of the press.

XVI. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state: it ought not, therefore, to be restrained in this commonwealth.

Right to keep and bear arms. Standing armies dangerous. Military power subordinate to civil. 5 Gray, 121.

XVII. The people have a right to keep and to bear arms for the common defence. And as, in time of peace, armies are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be maintained without the consent of the legislature; and the military power shall always be held in an exact subordination to the civil authority, and be governed by it.

Moral qualifications for office.

XVIII. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution, and a constant adherence to those of piety, justice, moderation, temperance, industry, and frugality, are absolutely necessary to preserve the advantages of liberty, and to maintain a free government. The people ought, consequently, to have a particular attention to all those principles, in the choice of their officers and representatives: and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them, in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of the commonwealth.

Right of people to instruct representatives and petition legislature.

XIX. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble to consult upon the common good; give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by the way of addresses, petitions, or remonstrances, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

Power to suspend the laws or their execution

XX. The power of suspending the laws, or the execution of the laws, ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived from it, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

Freedom of debate, etc., and reason thereof.

XXI. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate, in either house of the legislature, is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any accusation or prosecution, action or complaint, in any other court or place whatsoever.

Frequent sessions, and objects thereof.

XXII. The legislature ought frequently to assemble for the redress of grievances, for correcting, strengthening, and confirming the laws, and for making new laws, as the common good may require.

Taxation founded on consent. 8 Allen, 247.

XXIII. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duties ought to be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people or their representatives in the legislature.

XXIV. Laws made to punish for actions done before the existence of such laws, and which have not been declared crimes by preceding laws, are unjust, oppressive, and inconsistent with the fundamental principles of a free government.

Ex post facto laws prohibited.
12 Allen, 421,
424, 428, 434.

XXV. No subject ought, in any case, or in any time, to be declared guilty of treason or felony by the legislature.

Legislature not to convict of treason, etc.

XXVI. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines, or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

5 Gray, 482.

Excessive bail or fines, and cruel punishments, prohibited.

XXVII. In time of peace, no soldier ought to be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

No soldier to be quartered in any house, unless,
etc.

XXVIII. No person can in any case be subject to law-martial, or to any penalties or pains, by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

Citizens exempt
tial, unless, etc.

XXIX. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws, and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as free, impartial, and independent as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, and of every citizen, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices as long as they behave themselves well; and that they should have honorable salaries ascertained and established by standing laws.

In the government of this commonwealth, the legislative department shall never exercise the executive and judicial powers, or either of them: the executive shall never exercise the legislative and judicial powers, or either of them: the judicial shall never exercise the legislative and executive powers, or either of them: to the end it may be a government of laws and not of men.

PART THE SECOND.

The Frame of Government.

Title of body politic.

The people, inhabiting the territory formerly called the Province of Massachusetts Bay, do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other, to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS.

CHAPTER I.

THE LEGISLATIVE POWER.

SECTION I.

The General Court.

Legislative
department.

ARTICLE I. The department of legislation shall be formed by two branches, a Senate and House of Representatives; each of which shall have a negative on the other.

For change of time, etc., see amendments,
Art. X.

The legislative body shall assemble every year [on the last Wednesday in May, and at such other times as they shall judge necessary; and shall dissolve and be dissolved on the day next preceding the said last Wednesday in May;] and shall be styled, THE GENERAL COURT OF MASSACHUSETTS.

Governor's veto.
99 Mass. 636.

II. No bill or resolve of the senate or house of representatives shall become a law, and have force as such, until it shall have been laid before the governor for his revisal; and if he, upon such revision, approve thereof, he shall signify his approbation by signing the same. But if he have any objection to the passing of such bill or resolve, he shall return the same, together with his objections thereto, in writing, to the senate or house of representatives, in whichsoever the same shall have originated; who shall enter the objections sent down by the governor, at large, on their records, and proceed to reconsider the said bill or resolve. But if after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the said senate or house of representatives, shall, notwithstanding the said objections, agree to pass the same, it shall, together with the objections, be sent to the other branch of the legislature, where it shall also be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present, shall have the force of a law: but in all such cases,

Bill may be passed by two-thirds of each house, notwithstanding.

the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the persons voting for, or against, the said bill or resolve, shall be entered upon the public records of the commonwealth.

And in order to prevent unnecessary delays, if any bill or resolve shall not be returned by the governor within five days after it shall have been presented, the same shall have the force of a law.

3 Mass. 567.

III. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record, or other courts, to be held in the name of the commonwealth, for the hearing, trying, and determining of all manner of crimes, offences, pleas, processes, complaints, actions, matters, causes, and things, whatsoever, arising or happening within the commonwealth, or between or concerning persons inhabiting, or residing, or brought within the same: whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the said crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed: and for the awarding and making out of execution thereupon. To which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations, for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy or depending before them.

For exception in case of adjournment of the general court within the five days, see amendments, Art. I. General court may constitute judicatories, courts of record, etc. 8 Gray, 1. 12 Gray, 147, 154.

Courts, etc., may administer oaths.

IV. And further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time to make, ordain, and establish, all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, and ordinances, directions and instructions, either with penalties or without: so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they shall judge to be for the good and welfare of this commonwealth, and for the government and ordering thereof, and of the subjects of the same, and for the necessary support and defence of the government thereof; and to name and settle annually, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling, all civil officers within the said commonwealth, the election and constitution of whom are not hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers, and limits, of the several civil and military officers of this commonwealth, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to

And while the public charges of government, or any part thereof, shall be assessed on polls and estates, in the manner that has hitherto been practised, in order that such assessments may be made with equality, there shall be a valuation of estates within the commonwealth, taken anew once in every ten years at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

which was also

ARTICLE I. [There shall be annually elected, by the freeholders and other inhabitants of this commonwealth, qualified as in this constitution is provided, forty persons to be councillors and senators for the year ensuing their election; to be chosen by the inhabitants of the districts into which the commonwealth may, from time to time, be divided by the general court for that purpose; and the general court, in assigning the numbers to be elected by the respective districts, shall govern themselves by the proportion of the public taxes paid by the said districts; and timely make known to the inhabitants of the commonwealth the limits of each district, and the number of councillors and senators to be chosen therein; provided, that the number of such districts shall never be less than thirteen; and that no district be so large as to entitle the same to choose more than six senators.

And the several counties in this commonwealth shall, until the general court shall determine it necessary to alter the said districts, be districts for the choice of councillors and senators, (except that the counties of Dukes County and Nantucket shall form one district for that purpose) and shall elect the following number for councillors and senators, viz. : — Suffolk, six; Essex, six; Middlesex, five; Hampshire, four; Plymouth, three; Barnstable, one; Bristol, three; York, two; Dukes County and Nantucket, one; Worcester, five; Cumberland, one; Lincoln, one; Berkshire, two.]

Counties to be districts, until, etc.

II. The senate shall be the first branch of the legislature; and the senators shall be chosen in the following manner, viz. : there shall be a meeting on the [first Monday in April,] annually, forever, of the inhabitants of each town in the several counties of this commonwealth; to be called by the selectmen, and warned in due course of law, at least seven days before the [first Monday in April,] for the purpose of electing persons to be senators and councillors; [and at such meetings every male inhabitant of twenty-one years of age and upwards, having a freehold estate within the commonwealth, of the annual income of three pounds, or any estate of the value of sixty pounds, shall have a right to give in his vote for the senators for the district of which he is an inhabitant.] And to remove all doubts concerning the meaning of the word "inhabitant" in this constitution, every person shall be considered as an inhabitant, for the purpose of electing and being elected into any office, or place within this state, in that town, district, or plantation where he dwelleth, or hath his home.

Manner and time of choosing senators and councillors. See amendments, Arts. X. and XV. As to cities, see amendments, Art. II. Provisions as to qualifications of voters, superseded by amendments, Arts. III., XX., XXVII., XXX., XXXI. and XXXII. Word "inhabitant" defined. See also amendments, Art. XXIII., which was annulled by Art. XXVI. 12 Gray, 21, 122 Mass. 595, 597.

The selectmen of the several towns shall preside at such meetings impartially; and shall receive the votes of all the inhabitants of such towns present and qualified to vote for senators, and shall sort and count them in open town meeting, and in presence of the town clerk, who shall make a fair record, in presence of the selectmen, and in open town meeting, of the name of every person voted for, and of the number of votes against his name: and a fair copy of this record shall be attested by the selectmen and the town clerk, and shall be sealed up, directed to the secretary of the commonwealth for the time being, with a superscription, expressing the purport Inhabitants of unincorporated plantations, who pay state taxes, may vote.

And the inhabitants of plantations unincorporated, qualified as this constitution provides, who are or shall be empowered and required to assess taxes upon themselves toward the support of government, shall have the same privilege of voting for councillors and senators in the plantations where they reside, as town inhabitants have in their respective towns: and the plantation meetings for that purpose shall be held annually [on the same first Monday in April], at such place in the plantations, respectively, as the assessors thereof shall direct: which assessors shall have like authority for notifying the electors, collecting and returning the votes, as the selectmen and town clerks have in their several towns, by this constitution. And all other persons living in places unincorporated (qualified as aforesaid) who shall be assessed to the support of government by the assessors of an adjacent town, shall have the privilege of giving in their votes for councillors and senators in the town where they shall be assessed, and be notified of the place of meeting by the selectmen of the town where they shall be assessed, for that purpose, accordingly.

The qualification of the voters, the manner of the election, the return of the votes, and the declaration of the election, shall be such as are required in the election of governor. SECTION 6. The court shall find the date of the disappearance or absconding of the absentee, and any other material facts. If the court shall find that such disappearance has been continuous for more than fourteen years next preceding the filing of the petition, and that upon the evidence presented the absentee has not been heard from or known of within such fourteen years, and that the facts found warrant a presumption of death, the court shall order the trust estate to be transferred to the persons as trustees to whom, and at the time or times and in the shares and proportions in which, it would under the provisions of the trust of said property as set forth in the will, be distributed if said absentee had died within this Commonwealth on the day fourteen years after the date of the disappearance or absconding, as found and recorded by the court. And by such order all the right, title and interest of said absentee in said trust estate and of all other persons, except those to whom as trustees said trust estate is to be turned over and paid in pursuance of said order, shall, as against the said trustee appointed under the will by the probate court, be barred, and no action, suit or petition in any form shall be begun by, or for the benefit of, such absentee or such other persons against the said trustee for or on account of said trust estate or its proceeds; and the court may authorize the trustee to sell at public or private sale the said trust estate or any part thereof and to convert it into money in order to make transfer thereof as aforesaid.

heirs at law or as named in his will as the recipient of such trust estate under the exercise of any power of appointment by the said absentee or persons otherwise claiming the fund, the fund which such trustee has received, with the accumulations thereof, if any, less reasonable disbursements and compensation, if in the suit on said bond such absentee or other person shall be found to be lawfully entitled to said trust estate or fund; and such bond may be put in suit by such absentee or other persons for his or their own benefit. In every action on such bond the writ shall be indorsed by the persons for whose benefit or at whose request the action is brought or by their attorney, and the indorsers shall be liable for the costs of the suit, and execution therefor shall be issued against them and not against the judge of said court.

Writ to be indorsed by certain persons in action on bond, etc.

SECTION 8. Such new trustee so to be appointed as aforesaid shall be liable only for gross negligence, and shall have full power in his discretion to invest and reinvest the trust fund or estate delivered to him and to sell real and personal estate at public auction or private sale and to execute such instruments as may be necessary to transfer the title thereto, and no purchaser shall be obliged to see to the application of the purchase money. If such new trustee shall die before the expiration of the six years hereinafter named, his executor or administrator shall be liable as such on the bond herein required.

After the expiration of six years after the filing of said bond by said trustee no action, suit or petition in any form shall be brought against such new trustee on said bond or otherwise by said absentee or person claiming under him or otherwise claiming the estate in the hands of such new trustee.

Where petition shall be brought.

SECTION 12. In cases brought under the preceding section the petition if brought on account of a trust under a will, shall be in the probate court for the county in which the trustee was appointed; and if brought on account of a trust under a written instrument, shall be brought in the probate court of any county in which any of the parties interested in the trust reside or in which any of the land held in trust is situated. Court may decree that income shall be paid to certain persons.

SECTION 13. The court may at any time during the continuance of the trust on like petition and other proceedings as herein provided, decree that any income then accrued or thereafter accruing for the benefit of such absentee shall be paid to the persons as trustees to whom, and at the time or times and in the shares and proportions in which, it would be distributed if said absentee had died on the day fourteen years after the date of the disappearance or absconding, as found and recorded by the court.

CHARGES AND TO THE POWERS OF THE SEWER COMMISSION-ERS IN THE CITY OF TAUNTON.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

City of Tannton, system of sewers, etc.

SECTION 1. The provisions of this act shall be deemed to have been enacted in view of the system of sewers and the system of sewage disposal which were adopted by the city of Taunton on the fourteenth day of August, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, pursuant to the authority contained in chapter two hundred and nineteen of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five, and chapter two hundred and sixty-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and in view of the territory to which said systems apply and the conditions therein.

Payment of cost.

SECTION 2. The total cost of laying, making, maintaining and repairing the sewers of said system of sewers shall be borne and paid as hereinafter provided.

Owners of certain lands to be assessed,

SECTION 3. The sewer commissioners of said city shall assess the owners of land hereinafter described within the territory embraced by said system of sewers, by a fixed uniform rate based upon one third of the estimated average cost of all the sewers of said system. In making such estimate the cost of sewers in said territory which were built prior to the adoption of said system, but which have been made or are to be made a part thereof, shall be taken to be their fair value. Such assessments shall be made as aforesaid according to the frontage of land in said territory on a street or way in which the trunk sewer of said system is constructed, or in which there is a common sewer, directly or indirectly connected with said trunk sewer, whether such sewer was built prior or subsequent to August fourteen, eighteen hundred and ninety-seven, and according to the area of such land within a fixed depth from such street or way; but no assessment in respect to any such land which, by reason of its grade or level or any other cause, cannot be drained into such sewer, shall be made until such incapacity is removed; and in cases of corner lots and lots abutting on more than one sewered street or way, the same area shall not be assessed more than once. The lien hereinafter provided for shall attach to the parcel assessed. If payment has been made of any prior assessment or charge imposed in respect to any such land on account of any common sewer of said system, an allowance shall be made for such payment, and the owner shall be assessed for the balance only. Said sewer commissioners shall certify all assessments made under this section to the collector of taxes of said city for collection. After receiving an assessment list the collector shall forthwith send notice to each person assessed of the amount of his assessment, in like manner as notices of taxes are sent.

Allowance to be made for certain payments, etc.

SECTION 4. Assessments made under the preceding section shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, from the thirtieth day after they become due until paid, and the accruing interest shall be added to and be a part of such assessments. If the owner of land, within thirty days after notice of an assessment thereon, gives the assessors written notice to apportion the same, they shall apportion it into such number of equal parts, not exceeding fifteen, as the owner shall in said notice require. The assessors shall add one of said parts with interest at the rate of five per cent per annum from the date of apportionment to the annual tax of said land for each year next ensuing until all parts have so been added, unless sooner paid as hereinafter provided. Such assessments shall constitute a lien on the land, and such lien shall continue for two years after the assessments have been committed to the collector, or if they are to be paid by instalments, for two years after the last instalment has been committed to the collector, unless sooner paid. Any balance of said assessments remaining unpaid may be paid at any one Demand for the payment of assessments shall be made in like manner as demands for the payment of taxes, and sales for the non-payment of assessments and all proceedings connected therewith shall be made upon the same notices thereof, and shall be otherwise conducted in the same manner as sales for non-payment of taxes. All proceedings subsequent to such sales, relative to redemption, the purchase and holding of the land by the city, the interest to be paid in case of redemption, and otherwise shall be the same as when the land is sold for taxes. Assessments may also be collected by an action of contract in the name of the city, brought within two years after the same have become due and payable.

May be collected by an action of contract.

Persons aggrieved may apply for a jury, etc.

SECTION 5. Any person aggrieved by an assessment made under section three of this act may at any time within three months after receiving notice thereof apply for a jury to revise the same. Such application shall be made in like manner and the proceedings thereon shall be the same as in the case of land taken for laying out highways; but before making his application the applicant shall give fourteen days' notice in writing of his intention so to do to said sewer commissioners, and shall therein particularly specify his objection to the assessment, to which specification he shall be confined before the jury. The commissioners on receipt of every such notice shall notify the collector of taxes.

Part of cost to be paid by city, etc.

SECTION 6. So much of the cost specified in section three of this act as is not realized by assessments made as hereinbefore provided, shall be borne and paid by said city. Receipts from said assessments shall be applied to sinking funds for the extinguishment of indebtedness incurred for laying and making the sewers of said system of sewers.

Part of cost to be paid from annual charges, etc.

SECTION 7. One third of the cost of maintaining and repairing the sewers of said system of sewers and of constructing, maintaining and operating said system of sewage disposal shall be paid, so far as may be, from annual charges for the use of the sewers of said system of sewers to be established and collected as hereinafter provided. The remaining cost shall be paid by said city and shall be raised by general taxation.

Sewer commissioners to establish annual charges, etc.

SECTION 8. Said sewer commissioners shall establish just and equitable annual charges, which they may change from time to time, to be paid for the use of the sewers of said system of sewers by every person or owner of an estate who enters his particular sewer into the trunk sewer of said system or into any common sewer directly or indirectly connected with said trunk sewer; but, in cases where the sewer commissioners shall deem it to be equitable, a discount may be made by them. Such charges shall be collected semi-annually or annually, and to that end said sewer commissioners shall semi-annually or annually certify the same to the collector of taxes of said city. Upon receipt of a list of charges, the collector shall forthwith send notice to each person charged of the amount of his charges in like manner as notices of taxes are sent. Said charges shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding six per cent per annum from the thirtieth day after they become due until paid. The accruing interest shall be added to and be a part of such charges. The charges shall constitute a lien on the real estate using the sewer, and the lien shall continue for two years after the charges have been committed to the collector of taxes. Demand for the payment of charges shall be made in like manner as demands for the payment of taxes, and sales for the non-payment of charges and all proceedings connected therewith shall be made upon the same notices thereof, and shall be otherwise conducted in the same manner as sales for non-payment of taxes. All proceedings subsequent to such sales, relative to redemption, the purchase and holding of the land by the city, the interest to be paid in case of redemption, and otherwise, shall be the same as when the land is sold for taxes. Said charges may also be collected by an action of contract in the name of the city, brought within two years after the same have become due and payable. Any person who is aggrieved by an annual charge established as aforesaid may, within three months thereafter, file a petition in the superior court for the county of Bristol asking for a revision of the same; and thereupon the case shall be heard by a single justice, and the annual charge established as aforesaid shall be modified or confirmed, and such decision shall be final and conclusive.

Chap.387 AN ACT TO AUTHORIZE THE TOWN OF DOUGLAS TO LAY OUT SPECIAL TOWN WAYS FOR THE USE OF STREET RAILWAY COMPANIES.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Town of Douglas may lay out special town ways for certain rail-ways, etc.

SECTION 1. The town of Douglas may lay out special town ways for railways operated by any motive power except steam. Such ways may cross highways and town ways, at grade or otherwise, and shall be laid out, altered and discontinued in the manner provided by law in the case of town ways, except that the selectmen shall exercise the powers conferred on the road commissioners, if any such commissioners are chosen by the town, and that there shall be no appeal to the county commissioners; and the rights and remedies of all persons interested shall be the same, so far as they may be applicable, as those provided in the case of laying out town ways. There may be included in such ways land necessary or convenient for approaches, and for buildings or other structures used in the operation of such railways.

Selectmen may grant locations, etc.

SECTION 2. The selectmen of the town may grant locations in such ways to street railway companies, subject to the terms, conditions and obligations provided by law in the case of grants of locations to street railway companies in public streets, and may require any company to which a location is granted to pay for the same such amounts and in such manner as the railroad commissioners shall approve, but no grant of location shall take effect until approved by vote of the town. In granting any location the selectmen may require of the company receiving the same, security to the town, by bond or otherwise, that the company will perform and observe the terms and conditions imposed by such grant. Any street railway company organized under general or special law and having authority to operate a street railway in the town may, if it obtains a location as above provided, construct, maintain and operate its road over such special town ways. The town shall be under no obligation to perform any work of construction, but may do such work as it deems expedient.

SECTION 3. Such special town ways shall be used only for the purpose stated in the first section, except that drains, pipes, tubes and conduits for water, gas, electric wires and other like objects, and poles for wires and cables, may be laid, erected and maintained therein as in the public streets. Town ways and highways may be laid out, altered or located anew across any special town way at grade or otherwise. The said town shall not be liable for any defect in a special town way, and shall not be obliged to keep the same in repair.

Purpose for which special town ways may be used, etc.

SECTION 4. When any person is cut off by a special town way from access to lands owned by him the selectmen shall, after due notice to the parties in interest and a hearing, establish a crossing, and shall make from time to time all reasonable orders as to the construction, maintenance and use thereof, and shall apportion the expense of construction, and from time to time the expense of maintenance, between the town and the street railway companies using the way, as justice may require. Any such crossing, if it has become unnecessary or inconvenient, may be abolished by the selectmen after due notice to the parties in interest and a hearing; but no crossing shall be abolished without the consent of any person who would thereby be cut off from access to his lands, until another crossing established in the manner herein provided is substituted. Any person aggrieved by any action or failure to act on the part of the selectmen in relation to any such crossing may appeal to the railroad commissioners by petition filed within three months after the action complained of, or within six months after application is first made to the selectmen if they have failed for two months to take final action thereon; and the railroad commission-

SECTION 5. For the purpose of paying and discharging all necessary expenses and liabilities incurred under the provisions of this act the said town shall have authority from time to time to issue bonds to such an amount, not in excess of the debt limit of the town, as shall be approved by the board of railroad commissioners, but such approval shall not be given until after said board has given a public hearing to all parties interested, including citizens and taxpayers of the town, of which hearing thirty days' public notice shall be given in the manner and to the extent required in warning the citizens of a town meeting in said town, and, after such hearing, has certified that such issue of bonds is required by public necessity and convenience and by the interests of the town. Such bonds shall be signed by the treasurer and countersigned by a majority of the selectmen, shall be payable at periods not exceeding twenty years from the dates of issue, shall bear interest payable semi-annually at a rate not exceeding four per cent per annum, and shall bear on their face the words, Douglas Special Town Way Loan. The town may sell such bonds at public or private sale or pledge the same for money borrowed for the purposes of this act: provided, that none of such bonds shall be sold for less than their par value. Said town, instead of establishing a sinking fund, shall at the time of authorizing the loan provide for the payment thereof in such annual proportionate payments as will extinguish the same within the time prescribed in this act; and when a vote to that effect has been passed the net amount required under the provisions of this and the following section shall, without further vote, be assessed by the assessors of said town in each year thereafter until the debt incurred by said loan is extinguished.

SECTION 6. Said town shall each year apply the net income and receipts derived from the grants of locations to the payment of said interest, and the remainder, if there be any, of such net income and receipts, it shall apply, so far as may be necessary, toward the annual proportionate payments required by the preceding section, and the amount so applied or paid shall be deducted from the sums which would otherwise be required to be raised by taxation.

SECTION 7. Nothing shall be done under this act until it has been accepted at a town meeting called for the purpose. After the town has accepted this act no grant by the selectmen to a street railway company of a location in any public street in the town shall take effect until approved by vote of the town.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. Chapter thirty-four of the Revised Laws is hereby amended by striking out section eleven and inserting in place thereof the following: — Section 11. The owner of any plant for the manufacture or distribution of gas or electricity for light, heat or power in the city or town, who desires to sell the same under the provisions of this chapter, shall within sixty days after the passage of the final vote of the city or town required by section three of this chapter, file with the clerk of the city or town a good and sufficient conveyance duly executed of such parts of his plant as defined in section ten of this chapter as he desires to sell, together with a detailed schedule of the plant included in the conveyance and a statement of the price which he is willing to accept in payment for the same. Upon the filing of this conveyance the property thereby conveyed shall vest in the city or town, which shall be entitled to the immediate possession and use of the property conveyed; and the owner shall surrender possession of the same upon request. A city by vote of the city council, and a town by vote of the selectmen, may agree with the owner upon the price to be paid for the plant conveyed; but said agreement as to price shall not be binding in towns until ratified by a majority vote at a town meeting called for action thereon; but if the city or town does not agree with the owner as to such price, or notifies him within thirty days after the filing of the conveyance that it is dissatisfied with the contents thereof, either as including property which ought not to have been included or as not including property which ought to have been included, either party may, within sixty days after the filing of the conveyance, apply to the supreme judicial court for the county in which the city or town is situated for the appointment of commissioners to determine what property ought to have been included in the conveyance and the value thereof. The court upon hearing and upon proof that the foregoing conditions have been complied with shall appoint one or more commissioners who shall hear the parties and determine, in accordance with the rules laid down in section ten of this chapter, the value of the property conveyed, and, if the sufficiency of the conveyance in this regard is disputed, what property ought to have been conveyed by the owner to the city or town and the value thereof. The commissioners shall file a report of their determination; and, if either party is aggrieved by said determination, it may within thirty days after the filing thereof file objections thereto. The court shall thereupon have jurisdiction to determine the questions raised by the petition and objections; and may recommit the report for further action by the commissioners, or otherwise determine the matter as in proceedings in equity. The reasonable charges of the commissioners for their services shall be paid one half by each party, which, together with the expense of the litigation, if any, arising under this section, may be reckoned as part of the indebtedness for which bonds may be issued under section seven of this chapter.

Commissioners may be appointed to determine value of property, etc.

Certain property may be conveyed or reconveyed, etc.

SECTION 2. Said chapter is hereby further amended by striking out section twelve and inserting in place thereof the following: — Section 12. Any property conveyed which, according to the final decree of the court, ought not to have been conveyed, shall forthwith be reconveyed by the city or town to the owner without liability to account for the mesne profits thereof or to pay interest on the value thereof; and any property which, according to said decree, ought to have been but was not included in the conveyance, shall forthwith be conveyed by the owner to the city or town. The city or town shall pay the owner the value, determined as provided in section ten of this chapter, of the property conveyed or, if the sufficiency of the conveyance in this regard is disputed, the value of the property which ought to have been conveyed, with interest from the date of the conveyance or, if any additional conveyance is required by the decree, from the dates of the several conveyances.

SECTION 3. Said chapter is hereby further amended by striking out section twenty and inserting in place thereof the following:—Section 20. The mayor of a city or the selectmen, or municipal light board, if any, of a town which acquires a gas or electric lighting plant shall appoint a manager of municipal lighting who shall, under the direction and control of the mayor, selectmen or municipal light board, if any, and subject to the provisions of this chapter, have full charge of the operation and management of the plant, the manufacture and distribution of gas or electricity, the purchase of supplies, the employment of agents and servants, the method, time, price, quantity and quality of the supply, the collection of bills, and the keeping of accounts. His compensation and term of office shall be fixed in cities by the city council and in towns by the selectmen or municipal light board, if any; and, before entering upon the performance of his official duties, he shall give bond to the city or town for the faithful performance thereof in a sum and form and with sureties to the satisfaction of the mayor, selectmen or municipal light board, if any, and shall, at the end of each municipal year, render to them such detailed statement of his doings and of the business and financial matters in his charge as the board of gas and electric light commissioners may prescribe. All moneys payable to or received by the city, town, manager or board in connection with the operation of the plant, for the sale of gas or electricity or otherwise, shall be paid over to the city or town treasurer. All bills chargeable to the plant or the appropriations therefor shall be paid by the treasurer on requisition by the manager or municipal light board, if any. SECTION 4. Said chapter is hereby further amended by striking out section twenty-one and inserting in place thereof the following: — Section 21. Prior to the beginning of each fiscal year the manager of the plant shall furnish to the mayor, selectmen or municipal light board, if any, an estimate of the income from sales of gas and electricity to private consumers during the ensuing fiscal year and of the expense of the plant during said year, meaning the gross expenses of operation, maintenance and repair, the interest on the bonds, notes or scrip issued to pay for the plant, an amount for depreciation equal to five per cent of the cost of the plant, or such smaller or larger amount as the board of gas and electric light commissioners may approve, the requirements of the sinking fund or debt incurred for the plant, and the loss, if any, in the operation of the plant during the preceding year. The excess of the expense thus defined and estimated over the estimated income from sales to private consumers shall be included by the city or town in its annual appropriations for maintenance and in the tax levy. By cost of the plant is intended the total amount expended on the plant to the beginning of the fiscal year, for any purpose for which bonds, notes or scrip may be issued under sections seven and eight of this chapter. By loss in operation is intended the difference between the actual income from private consumers plus the appropriations for maintenance for the preceding fiscal year and the actual expense of the plant, reckoned as above, for that year in case such expense exceeded the amount of such income and appropriation. The income from sales and the money appropriated as aforesaid shall be used to pay the annual expense of the plant, defined as above, for the fiscal year, except that no part of the sum therein included for depreciation shall be used for other purposes than renewals, in excess of ordinary repairs, extensions, reconstruction, enlargements and additions. The surplus, if any, of said annual allowances for depreciation after making the above payments shall be kept as a separate fund and used for renewals, other than ordinary repairs, extensions, reconstruction, enlargements and additions in succeeding years; and no debt shall be incurred under sections seven and eight of this chapter for any extension, reconstruction or enlargements of the plant in excess of the amount needed for the purpose in addition to the amount then on hand in said depreciation fund. Said depreciation fund shall be kept and managed by the city or town treasurer as a separate fund, subject to appropriation by the city council or selectmen or municipal light board, if any, for the foregoing purpose. All appropriations for the plant shall be either for the annual expense defined as above, or for extensions, reconstruction, enlargements or additions; and no appropriation shall be used for any purpose other than that stated in the vote making the same. No bonds, notes or scrip shall be issued by a city or town for the annual expenses as defined in this section.

Appropriations, etc.

Said chapter is hereby further amended by striking out section twenty-seven and inserting in place thereof the following:— Section 27. A city or town which manufactures or sells gas or electricity for lighting shall keep records of its work and doings at its manufacturing station, and in respect to its distributing plant, as required by the board of gas and electric light commissioners. It shall install and maintain apparatus, satisfactory to said board, for the measurement and recording of the output of gas and electricity, and shall sell the same by meter to private consumers when required by said board; and if required by said board shall measure all gas or electricity consumed by the city or town. The books, accounts and returns shall be made and kept, in a form prescribed by said board, and the accounts shall be closed on the thirtieth day of June annually and a balance sheet of that date shall be taken therefrom and included in the return of said board. The mayor or selectmen, or municipal light board, if any, shall annually, on or before the second Wednesday of September, make return to said board, for the year ending on the thirtieth day of June, signed and sworn to by the mayor or a majority of the selectmen or municipal light board, if any, and by the manager, stating the financial condition of said business, the amount of authorized and existing indebtedness, a statement of income and expenses in such detail as the board may require, and a list of its salaried officers and the salary paid to each. The mayor, the selectmen or the municipal light board may direct any additional returns to be made at such time and in such detail as they may order. Any such plan may be amended or altered at any time by a new plan. If within thirty days the mayor does not approve any such plan, the company may within sixty days thereafter apply to the board, which, after such notice and hearing as it deems proper, shall approve such plan or alter the same in such manner as it may deem necessary. For the purposes of this act and within the limits herein prescribed, public ways and parks and the lands over which the same are laid out, or other public lands, may be used without compensation for such use, with the same rights and immunities as the public would have in making the same use thereof.

Company may take necessary lands, etc., to make certain connections, etc.

Proviso.

SECTION 6. Such order, to the extent specified therein, shall be deemed a revocation of the right or license to maintain such surface tracks, conduits, wires, pipes, poles or other property, and the owner of any such structures in public ways or lands shall comply with such order without expense to the company. If such owner shall fail to comply with such order within a reasonable time to be fixed therein, the company may remove such surface tracks, conduits, pipes, wires, poles or other property, and may relocate and reconstruct the same, and the cost of such removal, relocation and reconstruction shall be repaid to the company by the owner. No such discontinuance, removal or relocation shall entitle the owner of the property thus affected to any damages on account thereof. The removal and relocation of any property of the Commonwealth shall be subject to the approval of the board having charge thereof, and at the expense of the company. Any gas or electric lighting company may shut off the gas or current from any pipes or wires affected by any action done hereunder, when and so far as may be necessary to avoid the escape or explosion of gas, or to avoid other public danger. Temporary locations shall be granted on request of the company, for any surface tracks owned or operated by it; and, as soon as the state of the work permits the same may be restored to the original locations as nearly as may be.

Temporary locations may be granted, etc.

SECTION 3. Said town shall, within ninety days after the taking of any lands, rights of way or easements as aforesaid, otherwise than by purchase, file and cause to be recorded in the registry of deeds for the county of Suffolk a description thereof sufficiently accurate for identification, with a statement of the purposes for which the same were taken, signed by the water commissioners hereinafter provided for.

Town of Winthrop
Water Loan.

SECTION 6. Said town, for the purpose of paying the necessary expenses and liabilities incurred under the provisions of this act, may incur indebtedness outside of the limit fixed by law; and may issue from time to time bonds, notes or scrip to an amount sufficient for such purpose, to be determined by a vote of the town at a legal meeting held for that purpose. Such bonds, notes or scrip shall bear on their face the words, Town of Winthrop Water Loan, shall be payable at the expiration of periods not exceeding thirty years from the dates of issue, shall bear interest payable semi-annually, at a rate not exceeding four per cent per annum, and shall be signed by the treasurer of the town and countersigned by the water commissioners hereinafter provided for. Said town may sell such securities at public or private sale, or pledge the same for money borrowed for the purposes of this act, and upon such terms and conditions as it may deem proper: provided, that such securities shall not be sold or pledged for less than the par value thereof, but the premiums, if any, received on the sale of such bonds, notes or scrip shall be applied to the reduction of the principal of the debt.

Proviso.

SECTION 7. Said town shall at the time of authorizing said loan provide for the payment thereof in such annual payments as will extinguish the same within the time prescribed in this act; and when a vote to that effect has been passed the amount required thereby shall be provided for and paid from the water rates as provided in section eight of this act, or if not so provided and paid the assessors of said town shall, without further vote, assess such required amount in the same manner as other taxes are assessed under the provisions of section thirty-seven of chapter twelve of the Revised Laws.

Payment of SECTION 8. The water commissioners hereinafter provided for shall fix such prices or rates for the use of water as shall produce annually an amount sufficient, as near as may be, to defray all current operating expenses, including therein maintenance and the annual payment to said metropolitan water and sewerage board, all interest charges and payments on account of the principal of said loan as provided in section seven of this act, and an additional amount of not more than three thousand dollars a year for new construction. If however the amount thus provided shall in any year be insufficient for the payment of the current operating expenses, including therein the annual payment to said metropolitan water and sewerage board, all interest charges and payments on account of the principal as provided in section seven of this act shall be paid by the town, which shall raise by taxation a sum sufficient to make up the deficit. Any net annual surplus over and above the payments above specified shall be applied toward the payment of the principal of said loan.

Payment of
expenses, etc.

SECTION 9. Said town shall after the acceptance of this act, at a legal meeting called for the purpose, which may be the meeting at which this act shall be accepted, or at a subsequent meeting, elect by ballot three persons, legal voters of said town, to be the board of water commissioners, and to hold office one until the expiration of three years, one until the expiration of two years and one until the expiration of one year from the next succeeding annual town meeting; and at each annual town meeting thereafter one such commissioner shall be elected by ballot for a term of three years. A majority of said commissioners shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of all business relative to the water works, and they shall make a report to the town of all their doings annually or as often as the town may require. Any vacancy occurring in said board from any cause may be filled in the manner provided by section three hundred and sixty-one of chapter eleven of the Revised Laws. All contracts made by the commissioners shall be made in the name and behalf of the town, and no contract shall be made by them which involves the expenditure of money not already appropriated for the purpose by said town.

Quorum.
Vacancy.
Contracts.
Penalty for corruption of water, etc.

SECTION 10. Whoever without the consent of the town uses any water obtained or held by it under authority of this act, or wilfully or wantonly corrupts, pollutes or diverts any water obtained or held by said town pursuant to the provisions of this act, or destroys or injures any structure, work or other property owned, held or used by said town under the authority and for the purposes of this act, shall forfeit and pay to said town three times the amount of damages assessed therefor, to be recovered in an action of tort; and upon conviction of any of the above wilful or wanton acts shall be punished by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year.

Liability for payment for use of water.

SECTION 11. The occupant of any tenement shall be liable for the payment of the rent for the use of the water in such tenement, and the owner shall also be liable in case of non-payment by the occupant for all sums due for the use of water under this act, to be collected in an action of contract in the name of the town of Winthrop.

Revere Water Company may sell certain property to town of Winthrop, etc.

SECTION 12. If within thirty days after this act shall have been accepted by the town of Winthrop, as herein-after provided, the Revere Water Company shall notify the selectmen of said town in writing that it desires to sell to said town any and all of its property situated within said town, used for supplying water to the town or its inhabitants, and shall file with the town clerk of said town specifications and descriptions of said property, said town shall not proceed to construct a distributing system for the water to be supplied to it and its inhabitants under the authority of this act unless it shall first purchase of said company the property which the company has notified the town, as above provided, it desires to sell; and said company is authorized to make sale of said property to said town and said town is authorized to purchase the same and to manage and use the property thus acquired for the purposes and under the provisions of this act. Whenever said town by a majority vote of its legal voters present and voting thereon by ballot as described below in this section, at the special meeting, or at an annual town meeting, shall vote to purchase said property, notice of the desire of said company to sell the same having been given as hereinbefore provided, said company shall within thirty days after the vote aforesaid, execute and deliver to said town proper deeds and writings conveying to said town the property aforesaid, free and clear from all incumbrances; or if a title free and clear from incumbrances cannot be conveyed, there shall be given with such conveyance good and sufficient guaranty, with adequate security against such incumbrances. Said property shall thereupon become the property of said town and said town shall thereupon take possession of said property and operate the same and pay to said company the fair value thereof, to be ascertained as hereinafter provided in section thirteen; and upon the delivery of such deeds and writings conveying title, and such guaranty and security, all rights of said company to furnish said town and its inhabitants with water shall cease. The said vote shall be taken by separate ballot, with the use of the voting list, and the polls shall be open at least four hours. The vote shall be "yes" or "no" in answer to the question printed upon the ballot: "Shall the town of Winthrop purchase the property of the Revere Water Company in the town of Winthrop used for supplying water to the town of Winthrop or its inhabitants?" In case said company fails to perform and observe all the terms set forth in this section, then said town may proceed to construct, operate and maintain a water supply system and furnish itself and its inhabitants with water as hereinbefore provided.

Revere Water Company may sell certain property to town of Winthrop, etc.

In case of agreement as to value of property, question of purchase to be submitted to town, etc.

In case of disagreement, etc., commissioners may be appointed to determine value of property, etc.

SECTION 13. If said board of water commissioners and said company after a conference shall agree upon the value of said property, the question of whether the town agrees to purchase at the price so agreed upon shall be submitted to said town at an annual town meeting or at a special meeting called for the purpose, and such price shall become binding as the purchase price upon a majority vote of the voters present and voting at such a meeting, the vote being taken by ballot with the use of the voting list. In case said board of water commissioners and said company shall be unable to agree upon the value of said property, or in case said town shall reject an agreement as to the value of said property made by said commission and said company, the supreme judicial court shall, upon application of either party and notice to the other, appoint three commissioners, one of whom shall be learned in the law and one a skilled engineer, who shall determine the fair value of said property for the purposes of its use by said town, and whose award, when accepted by the court, shall be final. Such value shall be estimated without enhancement on account of future earning capacity or good will, or on account of the franchise of said company; and such value shall not be increased or decreased by reason of the provisions of chapter four hundred and eighty-eight of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and ninety-five. Said company shall be entitled to recover interest upon the amount found due by the commissioners, from the date when said company ceases to supply water to said town and its inhabitants, at the rate of five per cent per annum.

When to take effect.

SECTION 14. This act, except as provided in section fifteen, shall take effect upon its acceptance by a majority vote of the voters of the town of Winthrop present and voting thereon at an annual town meeting, or at a special meeting called for the purpose within ninety days after the passage of this act.

Same subject.

SECTION 15. So much of this act as authorizes its submission to the legal voters of said town shall take effect upon its passage, but it shall not take further effect until accepted as hereinbefore provided by the legal voters of said town.

Approved May 26, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS.

RESOLUTIONS UPON THE DEATH OF WILLIAM CLAFLIN.

On the death
of William Clafin.

Resolved, That in the death of William Clafin the Commonwealth mourns the loss of a statesman whose long continued public service was of the greatest value, and whose private life was above reproach.

A member of the general court for many years and finally president of the upper branch, he became lieutenant governor and subsequently chief executive, to which offices he was re-elected for many successive terms; and for four years he represented the Commonwealth in the congress of the United States with ability and distinction.

He courageously upheld the principal of anti-slavery in a part of the country where the lives of its advocates were in jeopardy, and contributed bountifully of his strength and resources to the upholding of the cause of freedom. He was a personal friend of Lincoln, and, like him, he stood for the equal rights of all mankind. Throughout his long life he was impelled by the highest motives of humanity and patriotism.

In all public positions he exhibited the same qualities that had brought him success in private enterprises: untiring energy and industry, natural executive capacity, which enabled him to transact business with great rapidity and singular correctness; unusual care and caution in entering upon any undertaking, whereby difficulties were avoided; uncompromising rectitude; and firmness of purpose united with gentleness of spirit.

When at length he withdrew from the duties of public office, he lived not unto himself, but transferred his activities to those religious, educational and philanthropic channels, into which his generous nature and broad and liberal spirit led him.

His career and example are a stimulus to all who cherish high ideals. Those seeking for true success and enduring fame may well emulate his life, the record of which will be a perpetual ornament upon the pages of our history.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the journals of the two branches, and that an engrossed copy be sent to the family of Mr. Claffin, with the respectful and profound sympathy of the senate, the house of representatives, and, through them, of the Commonwealth.

RESOLUTIONS RELATIVE TO RATES OF TRANSPORTATION ON RAILROADS.

Rates of
on railroads.

Whereas, Experience has shown that the differential railroad rates charged by the trunk lines on freight from interior points in the United States to the Atlantic seaboard, which were originally intended to equalize through rates by competing railroad and steamship lines from western points to foreign ports, now permit of the establishment and maintenance of lower through rates by way of the ports of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Newport News than by the port of Boston, thus diverting from Boston a large amount of export freight, which, under equal conditions as regards railroad rates, would otherwise come over New England lines, and causing thereby serious injury to the commerce of this Commonwealth; therefore,

Resolved, That the general court of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts favors the abrogation of these differential railroad freight rates, which discriminate against our principal port as a point of export, and cordially approves the action taken before the interstate commerce commission and elsewhere by citizens of this Commonwealth to secure an equitable adjustment of railroad rates to the end that Boston may be able to secure its fair share of export traffic.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the senators and representatives from this Commonwealth in the congress of the United States.

In Senate, adopted, March 14, 1905.

In House of Representatives, adopted in concurrence, March 21, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS RELATIVE TO AN AMENDMENT OF THE NATIONAL CONSTITUTION ENABLING CONGRESS TO ENACT LAWS REGULATING THE HOURS OF LABOR.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the general court of Massachusetts it is desirable that the constitution of the United States should be so amended as to place it clearly within the power of congress to enact laws regulating the hours of labor in the several states according to some uniform system; and the senators and representatives of this Commonwealth in congress are hereby requested to use their influence to secure the adoption of a resolution proposing such amendment to the constitution.

Enactment of laws regulating the hours of labor.

Resolved, That properly attested copies of these resolutions be sent to the senators and representatives in congress from this Commonwealth.

In Senate, adopted, March 15, 1905.

In House of Representatives, adopted in concurrence, March 21, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS ON THE DEATH OF THE HONORABLE GEORGE S. BOUTWELL.

Resolved, That, in the death of the Honorable George S. Boutwell, the Commonwealth has lost a citizen who, during a long life devoted to her welfare, filled the most important offices within her gift; faithfully discharged the trusts committed to him, and entitled himself to a place among the most eminent of her sons.

On the death of George S. Boutwell.

The nation has lost a statesman whose services to the Union in hours of peril and darkness were of lasting benefit to the whole country.

The community has lost a veritable tribune of the people, a patriot uncorrupting and incorruptible, a citizen whose private life was without stain and whose social and neighborly qualities endeared him to all.

George S. Boutwell was a skilful administrator, an experienced and fearless legislator, a zealous official, untiring in his work, an orator of persuasive power, a publicist of wide repute, a public servant commanding the respect and confidence of all classes.

The nation, the Commonwealth, the people of the whole country, mourn his loss and revere his memory.

Resolved. That an engrossed copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased.

In Senate, adopted, March 17, 1905.

In House of Representatives, adopted in concurrence, March 24, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS RELATIVE TO THE REMOVAL OF THE DUTY ON HIDES.

Removal of the duty on hides.

Resolved. That the general court of Massachusetts favors such action by the congress of the United States as will cause the removal of the duty upon hides.

Resolved. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the senators and representatives in congress from this Commonwealth.

In Senate, adopted, March 21, 1905.

In House of Representatives, adopted in concurrence, March 24, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS RELATIVE TO THE ESTABLISHMENT OF FREER TRADE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA.

Freer trade relations between the United States and Canada.

Resolved. That the general court of Massachusetts favors such action by the congress of the United States as will cause the establishment of freer trade relations between the United States and the Dominion of Canada and between the United States and Newfoundland, as soon as it is possible to secure such relations without injury to American agriculture, American labor or American industries, and without sacrificing the American policy of protection to American industries, under which not only the manufacturing, but also the agricultural and mercantile interests of the Commonwealth have largely prospered. The test of protective legislation however should not be "is a duty demanded?" but "is a duty needed?"

The general court approves the action recently taken unanimously by the members of the delegation from this Commonwealth in the congress of the United States, favoring the re-adjustment of the tariff at the earliest possible time, and it relies with confidence upon them to do all that may properly be done to protect and advance all the interests of Massachusetts when the work of readjustment shall be undertaken by the National congress.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to each of the senators and representatives in congress from this Commonwealth.

In Senate, adopted, March 22, 1905.

In House of Representatives, adopted in concurrence, March 27, 1905.

RESOLUTIONS UPON THE DEATH OF GENERAL FITZHUGH LEE.

Resolved, That in the death of General Fitzhugh Lee the general court laments the loss of one who had done much to preserve and increase the traditional friendship between Massachusetts and Virginia, and whose strong character and kindly manners had endeared him to those citizens of Massachusetts who had the honor of making his acquaintance. As a brave and skilful soldier who twice wore the uniform of the United States, as the representative of our government at Havana in a time of peculiar danger and difficulty, as a firm and patriotic upholder of a reunited country,—in all these capacities, and especially in the last one, Massachusetts honors General Fitzhugh Lee, and joins with Virginia in regret and sorrow at his death.

On the death
of General
Fitzhugh Lee.

Resolved, That these resolutions be placed on the records of the general court, and that an engrossed copy be sent to the family of the deceased.

In House of Representatives, adopted, May 5, 1905.

In Senate, adopted in concurrence, May 10, 1905.

The general court of 1905, during its annual session, passed 479 acts and 108 resolves which received the approval of his excellency the governor.

An act entitled "An Act to authorize the town of Natick to erect a municipal building and to borrow money therefor", was laid before the governor for his approval and was returned by him, with his objections thereto, to the senate, the branch in which it originated; was reconsidered, agreeably to the provisions of the constitution, and the vote being taken on passing the same, it was passed by both branches, the objections of the governor thereto notwithstanding, and thereby has the force of a law. (Chapter 439.)

Three acts, entitled, respectively, "An Act to incorporate the Massachusetts Casualty Company", "An Act to authorize the city of New Bedford to incur indebtedness beyond the limit fixed by law and to issue bonds, notes or scrip therefor", and "An Act to authorize the payment of money to certain veterans of the civil war", were passed and laid before the governor for his approval, and were returned by him, with his objections thereto, to the branch in which they originated; were reconsidered, and the vote being taken on passing the same, the objections of the governor thereto notwithstanding, they were rejected, two thirds of the members of both branches of the general court not voting in the affirmative.

The general court was prorogued on Friday, May 26, at 6.15 P.M., the session having occupied 143 days.

INAUGURAL ADDRESS

At twelve o'clock on Thursday, the fifth day of January, his excellency the governor, accompanied by his honor the lieutenant governor, the members of the executive council, and officers of the civil and military departments of the government, met the senate and house of representatives, in convention, and delivered the following

ADDRESS.

Members of the General Court.

With gratitude to the people and a full realization of the responsibilities placed upon me I enter upon my duties with the determination to be the chief executive of all the people of the state, and to do all within my power to promote the welfare of the Commonwealth and its inhabitants.

The problems of statecraft are so numerous and far reaching that it is with the greatest difficulty that the good are sifted from the bad measures and enacted into laws. This is a work occupying the best energies of our greatest minds, and each year shows the beneficent results of study for the advancement of our people.

I wish to urge upon you at the outset the avoidance of so-called class legislation, — that is, legislation calculated to benefit one portion of our citizenship at the expense of another. In its broadest and most emphatic sense no general legislation should be enacted that does not distribute burdens and benefits equally upon all.

It is my hope and belief that your honorable bodies are fully in accord with me in this declaration, and that we shall now proceed with the people's business, and so conduct it that our record here will add another to the many bright pages of the state's history.

DEFENCE OF PUBLIC RIGHTS.

The executive department of the government should not only treat with consideration all grievances of the people, but should take the initiative in securing justice where real cause of complaint is found to exist. The influences which menace the popular rights are always powerful and well organized, while the wrongs inflicted fall upon individuals, who cannot defend themselves without like organization. The executive elected by the people should be alert and active in providing such defence, and I desire to signify my intention to exercise to such an end all the powers vested in me and my subordinates.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE GEORGE FRISBIE HOAR.

In the year just closed Massachusetts has suffered by death the loss of one of its honored sons, — George Frisbie Hoar, for many years a senator of Massachusetts in the congress. His life work was devoted to our people, and in his passing every son of Massachusetts delighted to pause and record his admiration for one of nature's noblemen, — an honest man.

I recommend to you the appointment of a joint committee for the purpose of devising a permanent memorial to the life and character of the late Mr. Hoar, and ask of you to appropriate such money as is necessary.

I also recommend that joint action be taken setting aside a day of the general court when tributes to his memory may be paid in this hall by those who knew and loved him best.

REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES.

Rough estimates received from the auditor indicate that the regular running expenses of the state government in 1905 will be $10,372,439 and the total available revenue $7,250,000, leaving an estimated deficit of $3,122,439. This deficit will be increased by all appropriations which may be made by the legislature for other than ordinary running expenses.

Unless other sources of revenue are provided the state tax must be made to yield over $3,000,000. To do this the tax will have to be increased fully 20 per cent above what it has been in former years.

The reason for this great increase in expenditures is that the state is now caring for the insane, formerly cared for by cities and towns. This transfer of the insane has increased the state expenses fully $1,100,000. The very high cost of fuel, food and clothing is responsible for much of the remaining increase.

These statements not only indicate the great necessity for economy in administration, but that enterprises requiring appropriations of consequence should be entered into with extreme caution. The state debt is now too large; it should not be increased for any but the most extraordinary purposes.

THE TWELVE-DOLLAR TAX LIMIT.

The law limiting the tax rate in cities and towns for local purposes to $12 on each $1,000 of assessed value is producing bad results. From information obtained from about half of our cities it appears that the rate is so low that the majority of our municipalities are unable to live inside of this limit and conduct their affairs as the people want them conducted. As a result, all kinds of devices are resorted to in order to obtain sufficient revenue.

Some cities are taking money from water rates to keep them within the $12 limit. Others receive money from liquor licenses. Others are obliged to make permanent loans to pay current expenses, and to refund present debts, which is bad policy.

In at least one city the assessed value of real estate has been pushed up until residential property is assessed for fully 50 per cent more than its market value. Some cities have asked for and obtained special legislation abolishing this tax limit for a period of years.

In some way nearly all of our cities appear to be hampered by this law, which makes it more difficult and expensive for those that cannot exist within this limit to obtain the additional funds.

I would urge that the legislature make a thorough investigation of this question, and devise some reasonable method of relieving the cities unable legitimately to comply with the law as it now stands.

STATE CONTROL OF LOCAL POLICE.

In 1885 a departure was made from the time-honored and successful system of local self-government, and the control of its own police was taken from the city of Boston and vested in a commission appointed by the governor.

The assumption of this power by the Commonwealth has resulted in no good to it, or to any party in it, and the Commonwealth should acknowledge the fact.

I recommend a return to the principle of home rule by the enactment of a law restoring to Boston and Fall River, respectively, the control of their own police forces.

Under existing law each city and town decides whether liquor shall or shall not be sold within its limits, and the application of this principle could well be extended so as to include the right of decision by the voters in the several cities and towns of the hours in which innholders therein can serve intoxicating liquors to their guests.

MASSACHUSETTS AND THE TARIFF.

I desire to call your attention to a matter that, while more national than local, and while it is one over which your body has no control, is yet of vital importance to this Commonwealth.

Massachusetts' industrial greatness is due in a measure to her natural opportunities but more largely to her freedom of trade with the other states, to her sturdy, hard-working, frugal, skilful, intelligent, honest and patriotic people, and to her good government.

We must however realize that conditions are changing, and that it is unsafe for Massachusetts to stand still and to depend entirely for industrial success upon the same factors that have in the past kept her to the forefront. I believe that our wide-awake New England people appreciate this situation, and I expect to see them solve these new problems as they have previously solved others.

Cost of Living. — Since the passage of the present tariff law, in 1897, the cost of living has increased about 38 per cent. As prices have not risen half as much in England since 1897, it is fair to suppose that a large part of the increased cost of living in this country is due to the tariff law.

High Wages Not a Handicap.—The flow of manufactured goods the world over demonstrates that high daily and weekly wages are not a real handicap to our industries. Everywhere, with but few exceptions, we see those manufactured goods requiring the most labor, and in which the percentage of labor cost is greatest, flowing from the high to the low wage countries. Our exported wheat sown, harvested, threshed and ground by labor receiving from one to three dollars per day, competes in England with wheat from Russia and India, grown and harvested by labor receiving from twenty to fifty cents per day. It would seem to be almost a law of trade that high wages and low labor cost go hand in hand.

Massachusetts Industries Overburdened.—Because of her isolated condition as to materials and food supplies Massachusetts feels the burden of tariff taxes more than most other states. Against these taxes she is now vigorously protesting. The situation in Massachusetts is also peculiar because of her great extent of seacoast and her numerous harbors, making it cheaper to bring in imported goods than it is to transport them to the central and western states. Naturally, then, she would draw on Canada and other foreign countries for many of her materials and supplies.

Deprived of the benefits of natural access to foreign supplies by the high duties of the tariff, which tend to prohibit imports, she is compelled to pay excessive prices for most materials and for some foods and other supplies which she obtains from the interior states. Boston is the natural seaport for Montreal and eastern Canada, but here again the present tariff laws interfere and deprive our greatest city of the benefits of her location.

Reciprocity with Canada.—Whether relief from these tariff taxes be granted to us through legislation reducing tariff duties, or through reciprocal trade treaties with Canada and other countries, is less important than that it be immediate. If it be true, as claimed by many, that we have waited too long, and that Canada will no longer treat with us, then we of Massachusetts have the right to expect the revision of our tariff laws, regardless of those of any other country.

But I am not convinced that it is too late to obtain something of value from Canada by means of a fair reciprocity treaty. The mutual advantages to both countries from a proper reciprocal trade arrangement would be so great that it should not be difficult to negotiate such a treaty. Is it not fair to suppose that if the representatives of these two great nations can come together, unfettered by obligations to special interests and concerned only in the welfare of their countries, they will be able to negotiate treaties of great advantage to both countries?

Industrial Commission. — Appreciating that the tariff is primarily a national issue, I am also of the opinion that it affects different localities in different ways, and that it is impossible for any body of legislators, even if disposed to consider only the public welfare, always to determine definitely what legislation will result in the greatest good to the greatest number of our citizens. So many issues are presented at our national elections, and the personalities of the opposing candidates for president and for the congress so greatly influence the electorate, that our national legislators are seldom certain of the opinions of a majority of our voters on any issue. It is, therefore, it seems to me, not only proper, but desirable, that a state should, at any time it may see fit, express itself upon any national question and request its representatives in congress to vote for what it considers its own best interests.

To determine as accurately as possible the nature and extent of the great injury which, as I believe, is inflicted upon our Commonwealth by excessive tariff taxes; to suggest a remedy or remedies; and to put this knowledge before our citizens and our representatives in congress, I ask of the general court authority to appoint a commission to inquire into and report upon the effect of the present tariff laws upon Massachusetts' industries.

This commission should be empowered to hold hearings, and, if necessary, to obtain statistical and other information from without the Commonwealth. It should be required to make a final report not later than April 1, 1905. It should consider the advisability of a referendum vote on one or more of its conclusions, — the primary object of such vote being to obtain an expression of opinion from the people for the information and guidance of our representatives in the congress.

The importance of knowing our own tariff needs, and the possibility of thus influencing national legislation in our favor, are so great that the small cost of such a commission should hardly be considered.

Free Hides and Coal. — The present high and rapidly advancing prices of leather are weighing heavily upon Massachusetts' greatest industry, — that of boots and shoes. So great has been the advance in the cost of making shoes that manufacturers must soon increase their prices or use cheaper and inferior materials, and thus reduce the quality of their goods. The small margin for profits in many establishments, and the difficulty of holding trade if the prices of goods are advanced or their quality cheapened, causes great anxiety to many of our manufacturers.

Confronted by these conditions the prompt removal of the duty on hides is necessary to relieve our boot and shoe manufacturers from a most distressful condition. It is evident from recent and present quotations of cattle, beef and leather, that the farmers and cattle raisers are not benefiting from the duty of fifteen per cent on hides. While the prices of cattle are very low, and have been comparatively low the greater part of the time since the hide duty was levied, the prices of beef and of leather are extremely high. But, although our farmers have received no benefit from the fifteen per cent duty on hides, they have by it been compelled to pay higher prices for shoes and harnesses. They, also, would benefit by the removal of the duties on hides and leather. It may have been true, years ago, before the great majority of cattle were slaughtered by the beef packers, and when the hides were not sold on the cattle's backs, that a duty on hides would have protected and benefited farmers and cattle raisers; but it is not so to-day.

In the language of one of our prominent leather dealers, who is also a representative of large tanning interests: — "Our facilities for manufacturing shoes are far superior to those found in any other country. To keep them fully employed we need conditions favorable for export of finished shoes, and the opportunity to obtain the raw material at a cost no higher than other manufacturing nations. The present high tariff in its practical working has utterly failed to benefit the producer of the hide or show a revenue for the government. It is an impediment in the path of one of the greatest business interests of the country, and there will be no cessation of protest until this especially iniquitous duty has been expunged from the laws of the land."

Coal, the great source of power for our factories and of heat and light for our homes, is one of the essentials to our industrial life. It should be as cheap as possible. The duty of sixty-seven cents per ton on bituminous coal clearly protects both the hard and soft coal combines, especially as regards New England, and enables them to charge our manufacturers and other consumers higher prices for coal. With untaxed coal we would have access to the product of the provinces, and this would compel lower prices for all kinds of coal in this market. The cost of transporting coal from the provinces to Boston is only about half that of transporting it from Pennsylvania or West Virginia to Boston.

Similar arguments might be made in favor of untaxed leather, paper, pulp and carpet wools. The prompt removal of the duties on these materials would result in great and permanent good to important industries of this Commonwealth, and would not, as I believe, result in injury to any important industry deserving of protection. However, as there is opportunity for much discussion as to these duties which would cause delay in congress, I shall not urge all of them upon you for immediate consideration; but being certain that the best interests of Massachusetts demand the immediate removal of the duties on hides and coal, I earnestly urge that you memorialize congress to remove these duties at the present session.

LABOR LEGISLATION.

In no Commonwealth of the Union is such a large proportion of the people engaged in industrial pursuits as here in Massachusetts. Upon the intelligence, skill and willingness of the workers depends the supremacy of our manufactures in the markets of the world. Massachusetts in many enlightened labor measures has been the leader of the states; and while much has been accomplished there yet remains more to do. The fear of changed or changing conditions should not turn us from that broad and humane view that the laborer is indeed not only worthy of his hire, but is entitled to the leisure, the opportunity and the necessary income to provide for the present and future necessities of himself and family, to elevate himself by education into an employer, and by fitness become the instrument to lessen the burden of the ever on-coming toiling masses.

We are unwilling that our intelligent workers should be subjected to the uncontrollable conditions of less progressive states than Massachusetts. Our working people should not be forced to meet these conditions by lowering their standards of living. Therefore it behooves this general court to encourage any and all measures tending to promote a higher or better grade of manufactures within the Commonwealth, to the end that the skill of Massachusetts artisans may be utilized to its fullest extent, and not brought into open competition with the crude product of mills and factories of other states where public sentiment has not been sufficiently aroused to prevent the debasement of those who toil.

The movement for the shorter work day is progressing. Most of the cities and towns of the state are on record as favoring and practicing it; but, singularly, the Commonwealth itself has been backward in adopting such legislation as would place our state in line on this question.

From the mills, factories and workshops in all sections of the Commonwealth there comes an appeal that should not go unheeded. It is the petition of the women and minors for the enactment of a law prohibiting the overtime work in factories and mills after a reasonable hour. To such a measure, framed with due regard for all concerned, I commend your earnest consideration.

Another matter deserving more careful study is the hygienic conditions of our mills and factories. All the necessities for the promotion of good health should be ever present, to enable the worker to labor with best result. The matter of proper ventilation, light and toilet facilities should receive careful study from you.

I also wish to urge upon you the necessity for doing what is possible to secure the enactment by other states of laws similar to those of Massachusetts concerning child labor and the employment of women.

It is because Massachusetts has been foremost of all states in the enactment of laws for the welfare of its workers that she is a leader among the manufacturing Commonwealths. To continue in this course is the duty of you, gentlemen, to whom the electorate has committed the destiny of Massachusetts.

CONCILIATION AND ARBITRATION.

In the enactment of laws, the creation of the necessary board for their execution and the adoption of the principle by those who work and those who pay, Massachusetts leads all states of the Union in conciliation and arbitration of industrial disputes. It is one of the hopeful signs of the times that the demoralizing strike is of less frequent occurrence in our Commonwealth. Industrial peace has reigned almost supreme in those manufacturing centres where this golden rule of commercial conduct has been adopted. Against the old method of strikes stands out this safe and sane method of conciliation and arbitration. By its adoption differences between the employer and employee have been lessened. Its practical effects are evidenced in those communities where the wheels of industry revolve steadily and the full-pay envelope comes along regularly, while differences of opinion are being settled by reason rather than might.

The conciliation branch of the work, which includes trade agreements, the adjusting and composing of difficulties before they reach the acute stage, is as important as the board's other function of arbitration.

The benefits of conciliation and arbitration to the community, the worker and the employer are not as well understood as they should be for the welfare of the Commonwealth, and I trust the general court may devise some method to educate those most vitally interested in the subject to a better understanding of the wisdom of submitting grievances to an impartial board of arbiters; also that you, gentlemen, will favor such legislation as tends to promote the better working of the system already established in the state.

The work of the board can with advantage be extended to include the authority to appoint at its discretion persons whose duty it shall be to make examination and investigation of industrial conditions in localities within the Commonwealth, as directed by the board, to the end that the board may be seasonably informed of matters which may grow into misunderstandings before such shall become controversies, and ultimately, perchance, result in strikes or lock-outs, thus disturbing the industrial peace of the Commonwealth.

INDUSTRIAL AND TRADE SCHOOLS.

No effort should be spared to keep Massachusetts to the front in the industrial world. Since the practical abolition of apprenticeship systems and the specialization of labor in most of our mills and factories, there is but little opportunity for learning a trade. To-day most workers understand but one small part of an industry. Their opportunities for promotion are greatly lessened by this fact, and the difficulty of obtaining men qualified for foremen and superintendents is often great. A practical knowledge of an industry as a whole, and of the sciences upon which it rests, would open the doors to promotion for many bright workers now compelled to work at a machine or bench. If a considerable part of our factory employees had a more comprehensive knowledge of the industry in which they were engaged they would be quicker to appreciate and adopt improvements, we would have better foremen and superintendents, our factories would be better conducted and our industries would make greater progress.

In my opinion the industrial and trades schools are largely responsible for the great advancement made in many industries in Germany and England. We now import millions of dollars' worth of goods that could and should be produced here. Technical knowledge would not only enable our workers to produce these goods at home, but would greatly increase our export trade.

In my judgment Massachusetts made a good investment when it gave financial encouragement to our textile schools and our nautical training school. I believe we should have similar schools in other industries.

I would also suggest the advisability of agricultural schools, where a practical knowledge of horticulture, forestry and of the animal industries shall be taught. Small rural schools of this kind scattered throughout the state and inexpensively conducted would, in my opinion, not only do much to keep the country boys at home, but would cause our New England farms to become as productive and profitable as is possible.

DIRECT LEGISLATION.

I have unbounded faith in the intelligence of our people and their ability to govern themselves. Our colony and Commonwealth have been bred in pure democracy through the town meeting, which has educated the people to the wise conduct of their own business, and has produced local administration as free from corruption or excess as any in the world. There seems no reason why this system should be confined to towns and may not be wisely extended, in certain cases, to the state. Indeed, our Constitution is amended by popular vote directly upon the measure proposed, and if our organic law is thus confided to the direct vote of the people, it would be no innovation if such a vote of popular approval were to be required upon measures of legislation which are clearly inferior in dignity and importance to constitutional amendments.

It is common complaint that our legislatures are not always responsive to the popular will, and it would be quite within the principles of democratic government if, by convenient means, the will of the people should be made effective when legislative measures prove unsatisfactory. Such measures have already been put to the test elsewhere with results uniformly good.

It is difficult to see what objection there can be to such a grant of power to the people over their legislation. As members of the legislature are representatives of the people they should not object if their constituents be given power to reverse or approve their acts. If the objection be made that the people cannot be trusted, such an objection is a denial of the success of popular government as shown by the history of town meetings for more than two centuries.

Especially do I commend the passage of a law giving broad powers to the people of our cities to secure the submission to them of acts of the city councils affecting the interests of the citizens. Such a law would in my judgment do more to purify the state and city governments than any other plan of reform. Any unfair grants of privileges to private individuals and corporations would thus be subjected to popular judgment, and legislatures would become more cautious as they became directly accountable to the popular judgment.

I believe that the public outcry against the prevailing legislative methods is the natural and inevitable result of the granting of valuable franchises by the state, especially those known as public franchises, which derive their value from the necessities of the community. When capital has been invested in these franchises there arises at once, in the nature of things, a conflict between the public, which desires the cheapest and best service, and the franchise owners, whose purpose is to gain profit. It is futile to expect, if the legislature continues the sole distributor of these valuable franchises, that it will not be invaded by men who seek them, or that their possessors will not protect their privileges to the utmost.

If the people are given the right by direct vote to determine whether such franchises shall be granted, and how, within legal limitations, they shall be exercised, the seekers and holders of such franchises will be compelled to meet the popular requirement.

I believe this principle to be wise and salutary, and recommend legislation along these lines.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

I recommend legislation giving to cities and towns wider powers in the conduct of business which derives its profit from the necessities of the community. The powers already granted have proved the economy and wisdom of the conduct of such business by the community itself.

Whatever doubts may exist as to the expediency of state or federal ownership of public utilities, the operation of such undertakings by towns and cities has now passed the experimental stage. It has been demonstrated by the experience of towns and cities in this Commonwealth, both with regard to water supply and public lighting, that under favorable conditions and proper management the business of gas, electric lighting and water supply can be conducted by municipal corporations with profit to the inhabitants, both in price and in service.

In many cases of privately owned public-service corporations the rates, fares and prices charged are too high. The public is entitled to reasonable charges for the services of these monopolies. It will be far more likely to obtain service at reasonable prices if it has the right to do business on its own account.

When a public-service corporation is giving good service at fair rates it is not likely to be disturbed. When its rates and prices are unreasonable, it should, in the interest of the public welfare, be disturbed.

It is not disputed that, as a rule, private corporations conduct their business more economically than do public corporations. It is however disputed that the public usually obtains the benefit of this economical management. In most cases, therefore, the publicly owned and operated water works, sewers, gas and electric lighting plants have given the public cheaper and better service than have the privately owned concerns. For these reasons I ask the legislature to give every reasonable facility to those municipalities which desire to conduct their own public-service utilities.

Appreciating the difficulties of obtaining good business management and economical production by municipalities I urge you, when making laws for municipal ownership, to so frame them that the evils of political management will, so far as possible, be eliminated. With proper legislation it should be possible to obtain most of the benefits without any of the evils of privately owned and operated public-service corporations. It may be wise to permit private operation with public ownership.

If, when guarded by as careful and wise legislation as is possible, certain municipalities should fail in their attempt to give better and cheaper service to the public, it will be because the citizens of these municipalities do not insist upon having their municipal plants conducted in a business-like manner. The principle of municipal ownership is sound. In cases where unsatisfactory results are produced the fault is usually to be found in a laxity of administration. I believe that every such franchise taken over by the public relieves the people from possible exaction, practiced for private profit. With the low rates at which municipalities can borrow, and the elimination of dividends, the rates must be inevitably lowered, and the people become alone responsible for the efficiency of the service.

At present the laws offer great obstacles to the assumption of such works by the municipalities.

A necessary change in the law is to provide that when a company offers its plant under the provisions of the statute, the municipality may enter into possession at once, thus removing the temptation from the company to delay the valuation for the sake of taking extra profits out of the business by letting the plant run down during litigation.

PENAL LAWS.

I ask your attention to our penal system, and in suggesting its modification I trust it is not necessary for me to disclaim any purpose to weaken the dignity of the law or the security of the community. The tendency of modern legislation is toward a broader humanity in the penal system, which, in all its harshness, we took from the mother country.

There is a tendency among those who do not know the lot of the unfortunate to treat offenders against the law with uniform rigor, regardless of the circumstances which may surround them and their offences. I believe that the majority of offenders are creatures of condition and environment rather than of vicious natures, and that just treatment may redeem many when the rigor of punishment may serve not to correct, but rather to confirm, evil impulses.

In domestic and school discipline corporal punishment has been largely displaced by moral suasion, and it seems to me our criminal system has not kept pace with this development. Punishment by imprisonment brands the offender with indelible disgrace and discourages him from redeeming his reputation. The number of convictions in our Commonwealth, according to population, is believed to exceed that of any other state in the Union. This is undoubtedly due to the rigor of our criminal laws and administration, for we cannot believe that the criminal instinct in our Commonwealth is greater than in any other state.

It seems to me that first offences and offences committed by women or the young should, by an established system, be treated as objects of diligent investigation and of indulgent treatment, to the end that the offenders may be rescued from the hopeless lot of criminals.

So far as is consistent with the safety of the community the prison should be only a final resort for the prevention of crime.

With respect to minor offences it seems to me that the widest scope should be given to judges and to charitable organizations, so that mercy, benevolence, kindness and Christian forgiveness shall be exhausted before the penalties of the law are inflicted. I believe that unfortunates, the hungry, the unemployed and the intoxicated should not be taken to a cell when a door of charity is open to them and improvement may be hoped for without punishment. Some discretion may also fairly be vested in the police to take offenders to their homes rather than to cells, and even to release them under proper safeguards from appearance in court.

There should be diligent inquiry whether or not there are inducements to officers of the law in the fee system of our Commonwealth to bring persons to the courts who might be taken to their homes or to charitable hands, without injury to the community.

A system of laws tending to curb unnecessary arrests and commitments might, it seems to me, encourage charitable institutions to develop as recognized adjuncts of the courts and rescue many an unfortunate from an evil career.

There seems to be an unreasonable provision in the law for the unemployed which deserves correction. When, without work, they loiter on the highways they may be imprisoned therefor, while if they beg for food to keep them alive they are likewise subject to punishment. Such laws seem barbarous and inhuman, and different methods of treatment are demanded.

I would suggest also an inherent evil in the requirement of the law that those guilty of minor offences should stand committed when unable to pay a fine. The commitment of necessity takes away the opportunity to earn money with which to pay the fine, and it seems possible to devise a system by which such minor offenders may be allowed a period of probation in which they may earn the amount of the fine and thus be spared imprisonment.

I urge upon the legislature a broad and humane consideration of this general subject of simple justice, feeling sure that the members will share with me the life-long satisfaction which would follow our successful efforts to lessen the hardship of criminal punishment and save many unfortunates from disgrace and desperation.

EQUAL, UNIFORM AND REASONABLE RATES.

The remoteness of Massachusetts from the sources from which are derived the raw products so necessary to the successful conduct of its numerous and varied manufacturing interests, together with its ever widening distance from the centre of density of the nation's population and markets, brings sharply and constantly to our attention the need of facilities, both in rates and in transportation, as favorable as those accorded to producers and manufacturers of other states. Thus our industries will stand upon a parity with all others in reaching competitive markets, both foreign and domestic. I am aware that this subject is not under control of the legislature of this Commonwealth. I deem it my duty however to suggest the propriety of placing upon record your approval of the efforts of our business and transportation interests to secure for our people equal, uniform and reasonable rates, and the removal of unnecessary discriminations, injurious to our industrial growth and prosperity, from which we suffer as compared with our business rivals at other parts of the country.

GOOD ROADS.

It is hardly possible to say too much in favor of good roads. They benefit every citizen. They add wealth and taxable value to the state. To the farmer they are almost invaluable. They give him easier and cheaper access to markets; they bring rural homes and communities nearer to each other, and thus make farm life more social and pleasant; they increase the value of farm lands.

A permanent system of keeping in repair, as well as of construction, should be decided upon, which will, as soon as possible, make our state highways models of excellence and the pride of future generations. I also commend to your consideration the necessity of devising some more equitable plan for the distribution of the cost of construction and keeping in repair all such roads.

CHANGE IN FINANCIAL YEAR.

I renew the recommendation of my predecessor that the date of closing the financial year be changed from December 31 to September 30. I trust the general court will take such action as is necessary to bring about this very much needed change.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

I recommend that a small sum be placed at the disposal of the governor and council for an investigation of the Commonwealth's method of bookkeeping and accounting by an expert, familiar with modern methods.

THE TAXATION OF FOREST LANDS.

The preservation of our water supply and the profitable use of a great part of the land in this state alike require its devotion to timber culture ; but no such use of land is possible under our present system of taxation. I recommend to your consideration the expediency of legislation which, under proper safeguards, shall provide that lands devoted to forestry shall be taxed only on their product as cut.

SOLDIERS' HOME AT CHELSEA.

My attention has been called to the condition of the Soldiers' Home at Chelsea. It appears that the home was opened in 1881, with a capacity of about 100 ; that it has steadily grown, until now it has accommodations for about 450. This capacity is exhausted at present, there being only about 25 vacant beds, and more than that number of furloughed men likely to return at any time and occupy them. Applications for admission must necessarily be denied while this state of things exists. The prospect is, of course, for a greater rather than a lesser demand for accommodations, as the soldiers grow older and less able to support themselves.

About one third of the members of the home are in the hospital, and the proportion is rapidly increasing. The hospital facilities are entirely overtaxed. There is great need that something should be done to obviate the difficulties attending the care of so many invalids among the old soldiers.

At one time, by the rules of the institution, in many cases a portion of the pensions coming to the men was used to assist in the expenses of conducting the home; but during the present year a law of congress operates to prevent the use of the pensions for that purpose.

The increasing expenses, and the increasing demand for facilities at the home and at the hospital, call for some measure of relief to aid the authorities there in carrying out the purpose for which it has been fostered and encouraged. Some of the officials of the grand army of the republic have devoted their attention and thought to the interests of the home, and are sorely puzzled as to ways and means of preserving it, and of adding to its facilities.

Massachusetts has always done her full duty to her soldiers, and has always kept in mind their welfare and well-being. That policy should certainly be borne in mind in considering what should be done at this time in behalf of those men who deserve so much from the Commonwealth whose honor they upheld.

OBSERVANCE OF OLD-HOME WEEK.

To all who have concern for the welfare of the Commonwealth the general and hearty acceptance by the people of Massachusetts of the annual old-home week observance is a most encouraging symptom. This admirable institution has already shown itself to be a potent factor in the awakening of local public spirit and civic pride, and it should be fostered in every legitimate way.

Any movement which at regular periods brings back to our state considerable numbers of its 300,000 sons and daughters who have made new homes elsewhere is to be commended, inasmuch as such visits must unfailingly benefit in both a sentimental and a material way every community receiving them.

These yearly gatherings of present and former residents, resulting in the mutual renewal of old ties and associations, the reawakening of fond memories of youth and the kindling anew of loyalty to the old home, unquestionably make for a higher life and a broader civilization.

Under the act of 1902, cities by their city councils, and towns at legal town meetings, may appropriate money for the observance of old-home week, that beginning with the last Sunday in July of each year.

It is to be hoped that every city and town in the Commonwealth will avail itself of the privilege and make the helpful and inspiring old-home week reunion a permanent feature of its life.

ISOLATED PRISON FOR CONSUMPTIVE CRIMINALS.

In the prisons there are always some inmates who are afflicted with consumption or suffering with ailments allied to that disease. As a rule the officials do everything in their power to protect the health of prisoners from the danger of communication, but under best conditions it is impossible to prevent these cases from being a menace to the health of other inmates, because all must of necessity dwell near together. Moreover, it is not practicable in a prison to give proper treatment to sufferers from this disease; and it is essential to the public health that while they are under imprisonment as much as is possible should be done to arrest the progress of the disease. Some of the larger prisons have well equipped hospitals, but even these do not afford sufficient means of isolation, and in no prison are the opportunities for outdoor employment and exercise adequate to a systematic course of treatment.

It would greatly improve the condition of all the prisons where this disease occurs if a prisoner suffering from it could at once be removed to a place specially provided for the treatment of consumption. From a general survey it appears that there are now about 80 cases of consumption in all the prisons. A suitable place for the detention and treatment of 100 such cases could be made at small expense either on the land owned by the state in Rutland, or elsewhere, and I ask of you careful consideration of this matter.

EMPLOYMENT FOR SHORT TERM CONVICTS.

Many of the short term men in the county houses of correction might be employed in reclaiming waste and unimproved lands, a labor which will never be invested from any other source. This experiment is now on trial by the state at Rutland, and has been successfully tried at the state farm at Bridgewater. No wage earner can afford to clear land in Massachusetts as his only means of a livelihood, and at the outset the proposition is one which eliminates at once competition with free labor.

Experts in the management of great prisons recommend that the houses of correction go into the business of reclaiming waste land. Some of them can find plenty of land for this purpose within daily transportation limits. Others might need to operate a sub-station. It would no doubt be inexpedient to work all the prison population in this way, for there are vicious men in the population who cannot be thus handled with safety to the public; there are others physically unfit, but it is estimated that nearly one half of the population in the houses of correction could be so employed. No estimate of financial profit or loss of the undertaking is attempted, but I think we may be assured without argument that there would be a moral and physical profit, and every acre of our soil redeemed from waste would have a value indestructible, whatever may have been its cost.

VOTING MACHINES.

In several states voting by machinery has stood the test of successful experiment, reducing the liability of error and facilitating the work of totalizing the result. As yet Massachusetts has not interested itself in election machinery, and I would therefore recommend the subject to your consideration.

CIVIL SERVICE.

I recommend that the civil service law, giving equal opportunity to all citizens for admission into and promotion in the civil service, shall be extended, to the end that all salaried appointive positions to which the purposes of the law may be found applicable, in the Commonwealth, in the counties of the Commonwealth, and, with the consent of the mayors, in cities, may from time to time be included within its scope. Many of these positions cannot now be placed under the civil service rules without an amendment of the law.

I desire briefly to call your attention to certain suggestions relating to some of the departments:—

STATE INSTITUTION FOR THE INSANE.

In order to gradually relieve the overcrowded condition of the state institutions for the insane something should be done each year in excess of the minimum requirement. On the first day of October there were 1,650 beds in use in corridors and day rooms, of which 956 had to be removed each morning and stored for the day, in order to allow sufficient day space for patients. This is at least 100 fewer than a year ago. Appropriations should be made to provide additional accommodation in connection with existing state institutions for the insane, for 500 patients.

The need of extension of accommodation in connection with the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-minded at Waltham is very urgent. There are 500 to 1,000 feeble-minded children awaiting admission to such an institution. During the past year there have been 240 applications for admission to this school. Only a few of these could be admitted, owing to the lack of accommodations for them.

These feeble-minded children urgently need the care and supervision of such an institution. They are growing up ignorant and idle, and will eventually get into almshouses, insane asylums or prisons, unless they are put under training which will improve them and make them useful in doing the ordinary work about an institution, and, in a few cases, allow them to return to useful work at home.

The trustees of the school for the feeble-minded will ask for an appropriation to erect two new buildings, each accommodating 100 patients, and it is a matter requiring your prompt consideration.

MILITIA.

The organized militia of the Commonwealth is an important branch of the public service. It is composed of active and enthusiastic young men who have the good of the service at heart, and who should be encouraged in every way to attain the highest possible ideals.

I have asked the war department to detail Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, U. S. A., retired, to report to me under the provisions of the "Dick act," so-called, and I have been notified by the secretary of war that the request will be granted.

It is my intention to have General Miles at once make a thorough inspection of the organized militia of the state. He will report, in writing, what changes in our militia laws and methods of administration are, in his judgment, desirable to better promote its efficiency as a part of the national guard, and to obtain the benefits of national co-operation and assistance.

INDUSTRIAL AND LABOR OPPORTUNITIES.

Some years ago the bureau of statistics of labor obtained and published information in regard to abandoned farms. Nearly all of these farms have since been sold and are now in use. This bureau is now obtaining information in regard to industrial opportunities not yet utilized. The information collected will also show the location of land suitable for manufacturing purposes situated near railroads or in proximity to unused water power. If proper publicity were given to this information, these unused manufacturing plants and suitably located lands might soon be put to good use. They would thus provide employment for many workers now idle. I would also suggest the advisability of obtaining and publishing similar information in regard to unemployed labor. It is to the advantage of the state, as well as labor itself, that the opportunities for employment should be known to all who are unemployed.

METROPOLITAN WATER AND SEWERAGE BOARD.

The metropolitan water and sewerage board has repeatedly called attention to the rapidly increasing consumption of water in the metropolitan district, which, if not checked, will necessitate the acquisition in the near future and at great expense of large supplies beyond the Nashua. As a means towards keeping the consumption of water within reasonable limits I recommend a change in the method of apportioning the cost of the metropolitan water. This cost is now assessed upon the several cities and towns in the district on a basis wholly independent of the consumption of water. I recommend that the cost be assessed in direct proportion to the amount of water used.

STATE BOARD OF CHARITY.

In its annual report the state board of charity offers several recommendations. I particularly commend to your consideration the one referring to the establishment of juvenile courts.

THE FALL RIVER SITUATION.

The most deplorable conditions exist at Fall River. It seems beyond belief that in these enlightened twentieth century days, after all the study and experiments of our best minds, it should be possible for us to look upon such an appalling spectacle as the present situation in that city. Nations have met and solved vexed problems by arbitration; magnificent temples are being constructed where world powers may meet and settle their differences. Yet here in Massachusetts — the citadel of wealth, culture, refinement and progressive liberality — is presented the melancholy sight of our women and children being fed from soup houses and sent to bed scantily clad in fireless homes. I cannot attempt to dissect the causes leading up to this condition, but it is sufficient for us to know that it exists. If it be possible in the deliberations of your bodies to formulate a remedy for existing conditions and prevent their recurrence, humanity will not have labored in vain.

The situation in Fall River is not only a blemish upon the good name of the Commonwealth, but many of its citizens, in no way responsible for, or parties to, the present state of affairs, are being ruined financially, with no power to save themselves. It should at least be a subject worthy of study to devise some means not only for the prevention of such desperate industrial warfare, but for the protection of those interests in the community not a party to the controversy.

Senators and Representatives: I beg of you that in all deliberations let the welfare of the state be your first and only consideration.

SPECIAL MESSAGES.

THE FOLLOWING SPECIAL COMMUNICATIONS WERE MADE BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR TO THE LEGISLATURE
DURING THE ANNUAL SESSION.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, January 7, 1905.]

I have the honor to transmit herewith to the general court a report of the pardons granted in 1904, left with me by my predecessor in office.

WILLIAM L. DOUGLAS.

JANUARY 5, 1905.

I have the honor to herewith present, in compliance with chapter 50 of the resolves of 1860, a report of the forty-seven pardons issued by the governor, with the advice of the council, during the year of my administration just closed. Of the number thus released, thirteen were in the state prison, fourteen in houses of correction, fifteen in the Massachusetts reformatory and five in the reformatory prison for women. Serious illness was the controlling reason for the discharge of five.

JOHN L. BATES.

No. 1. MINNIE MOONEY. Convicted of murder, second degree, Superior Court, Bristol county, Nov. 1, 1897. Sentenced to the house of correction for life. Pardoned Jan. 20, 1904, upon the recommendation of the chairman of the prison commissioners, the county commissioners of Bristol county and the chief of police of New Bedford, where the crime was committed. The prisoner was convicted of the murder of her illegitimate child. When her child was but two weeks old she was turned penniless into the street. In her desperation, after having been told that no one would give her a home, she killed the child and left it on the shore above high-water mark, making no effort to conceal it. The jail physician reported that her mental condition was steadily deteriorating, and she was shortly liable to become insane. She was removed by her father to his home in New Brunswick.

No. 2. DANIEL McMILLAN. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May 5, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for four years. Pardoned Feb. 25, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and his former employers (the firm who were robbed), who believe that he was merely an accomplice used by the principal thereof while he was intoxicated. Numerous testimonials as to his excellent work and character were submitted at the hearing. Employment was offered him immediately on his release.

No. 3. CHARLES McEACHERON, alias JOHN MURPHY. Convicted of vagrancy, Central District Court of Worcester, Oct. 6, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned March 9, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners. This prisoner, who was seventeen years of age, had committed no crime, and had a good home to go to. It was considered unwise to keep him longer in confinement.

No. 4. EDWIN F. WALKER. Convicted of embezzlement, Superior Court, Bristol county, June 18, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for two and one half years. Pardoned April 6, 1904, upon the recommendation of the county commissioners of Bristol county, and the mayor and many of the leading citizens of Taunton, on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished, and would hereafter lead an honorable and upright life. He was eligible for release under the provisions of chapter 227 of the acts of the year 1902, "Relative to the release of prisoners upon probation." A pardon was granted to unify practice of release when six months remain unserved.

No. 5. ISRAEL SILVERSTEIN. Convicted of stubbornness, Municipal Court, Boston, Oct. 6, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned April 6, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners. At the time of the trial (he was but fifteen years of age) the regular visitor of the state board of charity was away on his vacation; but upon an investigation of the case, made after the boy was sentenced, he was of opinion that the case should have been placed on probation.

No. 6. FREDERICK CARR. Convicted of assault, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May term, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for four years. Pardoned April 6, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney, who was strongly of the opinion that he had been sufficiently punished for the crime committed, which has been proven to have been of a less serious nature than was supposed at the trial. He served faithfully in the United States army in the Philippines, and had an honorable discharge. Immediate employment awaited him upon his release.

No. 7. JAMES W. SIMPSON. Convicted of vagrancy, Municipal Court, Boston, Dec. 23, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned April 13, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners. Simpson, a young man twenty years of age, with no previous court record, was seriously ill in the hospital. He had a comfortable home to go to.

No. 8. RICHARD J. DRUHAN. Convicted of burglary, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Feb. 26, 1888. Sentenced to the state prison for twenty years. Pardoned April 19, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners, who reported that Druhan escaped from the prison with several other prisoners, March 4, 1892; he was recaptured April 6, 1892, and on the twenty-sixth of the same month was taken into court and given a sentence of fifteen months for the escape. He had not been punished for any misconduct or reprimanded even for any violation of the prison rules for nearly a dozen years. He had evidently been trying all these years to improve his time in a way that would enable him to pursue an honest occupation when released. His deportment had been such as to win the sympathy of all the officers who knew him. He was released upon the expiration of his twenty-year term, as shortened by deductions for good behavior.

No. 9. CLARA HARRIS. Convicted of stubbornness, Police Court of Lynn, Feb. 19, 1904. Sentenced to the reformatory prison for women on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned April 28, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners and the judge who sentenced her. The judge stated that, if all the facts he now knows had been brought to his attention at the trial, he should have placed the girl in charge of the probation officer.

No. 10. WILLIAM T. MAHONEY. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Hampden county, Dec. 27, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for three years. Pardoned May 4, 1904, upon the recommendation of the chief of police of Agawam. The district attorney concurred in the recommendation, on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished. He was on a spree at the time of the arrest, and broke into a saloon to get liquor to drink. He was a good workman, and industrious. His former employer was ready to give him employment at good wages. He had never been arrested before.

No. 11. WILLIAM A. ATWOOD. Convicted of stubbornness, Municipal Court, Dorchester, Dec. 7, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned May 11, 1904, upon the recommendation of the judge who imposed the sentence and the prison commissioners. If all the facts in this case had been submitted to the court at the time of sentence, he would undoubtedly have been placed on probation.

No. 12. ALVAH G. KENERSON. Convicted of being a disobedient child, Municipal Court, Dorchester, Nov. 10, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned May 18, 1904.

Kenerson was in a very serious physical condition, and was released upon the recommendation of the prison physician. His father, who made the complaint, earnestly urged a pardon. His record in the reformatory was perfect.

No. 13. ROYSTON B. PRAY. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Jan. 5, 1904. Sentenced to the house of correction for twelve months. Pardoned May 18, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney. There were grave doubts regarding the guilt of the prisoner.

No. 14. PETER STROCKES. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Middlesex county, April term, 1903. Sentenced to the house of correction for two years. Pardoned May 18, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and the complainant, on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished. This was his first offence.

No. 15. PETER E. CARR. Convicted of stubbornness, Municipal Court, South Boston, Oct. 10, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned May 18, 1904. Carr, seventeen years of age, was committed by request of his father. The boy's mother is dead, and the father was unable to control him. Since his commitment to the reformatory the father has married again and has a good home for his son. It seemed to be a case where the boy had been sufficiently punished.

No. 16. CORNELIUS NAGLE. Convicted of murder in the second degree, Superior Court, Middlesex county, June 13, 1895. Sentenced to the state prison for life. Pardoned May 23, 1904, upon the recommendation of the justice who imposed the sentence, and all the living jurymen and many citizens of Lowell. Nagle was indicted with two others, Patrick Sullivan and Patrick J. Foley, for murder. The jury found all three guilty of murder in the second degree. Justice Lilley certified that: "It seemed to me at the trial that there were circumstances attending Nagle's participation in the crime of which the law could not take cognizance, but which, at an appropriate time, would justify an appeal for executive clemency. Nagle has been in prison for a very substantial period of time, and, if I may be permitted to express my opinion, I personally feel that the ends of justice are satisfied by the punishment which he has already suffered, and that mercy might with entire propriety be now extended to him." Nagle was unarmed, and did not fire the fatal shot.

No. 17. THOMAS McNULTY. Convicted of vagrancy, Central District Court of Worcester, Oct. 6, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned May 25, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners. He was sixteen years old, and had committed no crime. A good home and employment awaited him.

No. 18. CORNELIUS USHER. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Essex county, May 29, 1902. Sentenced to the state prison for from three to five years. Pardoned May 25, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney, who certified that "one Coughlin had pleaded guilty to committing the crime for which Usher had been sentenced to state prison. I feel confident that Usher is not guilty, and ought to be discharged without delay." Usher, however, was guilty of receiving from Coughlin the stolen goods, and attempting to pawn them.

No. 19. FRANCIS L. BURTON. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Sept. 19, 1903. Sentenced to the house of correction for eighteen months. Pardoned May 25, 1904, upon the recommendation of Gov. James N. Peabody of Colorado, many of the business associates of Burton in Colorado, and of the chairman of the prison commission, who had very carefully investigated the case. Burton was a resident of Colorado. This was his first offence, and he had served more than half of his sentence. He had large business interests in Colorado. The wife of the prisoner for a long period of time had been a hopeless invalid, and needed the constant attention and care of her husband.

No. 20. WILLIAM PETERHANS. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Oct. 5, 1896. Sentenced to the state prison for from ten to fifteen years. Pardoned June 22, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and of the parties from whom the property was stolen. The district attorney reported that: "The three offences of which Peterhans was guilty were committed about the same time. He pleaded guilty, had no counsel, and received a severe sentence, considering that there was no evidence of any previous offending." At the time of his conviction he was little more than a mere youth, being a minor. Since his incarceration, and during his spare moments, he has busied himself by illuminating texts. The proceeds of this work he has used to make restitution to those persons whose homes he had entered and whose property he took. A position as an illuminator of texts had been offered to him.

No. 21. WILLIAM D. McCLELLAN. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May 22, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for four years. Pardoned June 22, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and the man from whom the goods were stolen. McClellan did not belong to the criminal class. He had fallen through the excessive use of intoxicating liquors. This was his first offence. The proprietors of the store which he entered, and who formerly employed McClellan, recommended his release. They think he will become a good citizen.

No. 22. SARAH E. JENKINS. Convicted of adultery, Superior Court, Essex county, May 19, 1904. Sentenced to the reformatory prison for women on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned July 2, 1904. The mother of the prisoner was fatally ill with fibroid phthisis, and was failing rapidly, and constantly worrying about her daughter. With the hope of prolonging the life of the mother a pardon was granted. Many of the leading citizens of Haverhill recommended a pardon.

No. 23. ISAAC OWENS. Convicted of stubbornness, Third District Court of Eastern Middlesex, Dec. 10, 1902.

Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned July 20, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners, on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished.

No. 24. JAMES CASEY. Convicted of breaking and entering, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May term, 1903. Sentenced to the house of correction for two and one half years. Pardoned July 20, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and the resident physician of the house of correction. Casey was in the last stages of tuberculosis of the lungs and larynx.

No. 25. ISABELLA WEST. Convicted of stubbornness, Second District Court of Bristol, May 25, 1902. Sentenced to the reformatory prison for women on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned July 20, 1904, upon the recommendation of the mayor of Fall River and the senators and representatives from that city. The father and mother of the prisoner were both ill, and required the services of their daughter. As she had committed no crime, a pardon was granted.

No. 26. RAFAEL DEGEROMINO. Convicted of assault and battery, Central District Court of Worcester, June 8, 1904. Sentenced to the house of correction for six months. Pardoned July 27, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and probation officer and the complainant, on the ground that he had been sufficiently punished.

No. 27. HENRY E. CHELLIS. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Middlesex county, Dec. 16, 1903. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Sept. 12, 1904, upon the recommendation of the complainant and many of the leading citizens of Portland, Me., the home of the prisoner. This was his first offence. There were extenuating circumstances connected with the case, which led the pardon committee to believe that he had been sufficiently punished.

No. 28. EDWARD S. MOORE. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Oct. 2, 1903. Sentenced to the house of correction for twenty-one months (two indictments). Pardoned Oct. 12, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney and the complainants, on the ground that the imprisonment already suffered was sufficient to satisfy the ends of justice, and that he would hereafter lead an honorable life. Immediate employment awaited him.

No. 29. JOHN J. ROSE. Convicted of larceny, Third District Court of Eastern Middlesex, April 16, 1904. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Oct. 12, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners and the probation officer of the court. He would undoubtedly have been placed on probation at time of sentence, if all the circumstances had been shown.

No. 30. FRANK BEAUDRY. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Hampden county, May term, 1902. Sentenced to the house of correction for four years. Pardoned Oct. 12, 1904, upon the recommendation of the complainant and prominent citizens of Holyoke, where the crime was committed, who believed that the law had been vindicated, and that he had been sufficiently punished for the crime committed, which was a slight one.

No. 31. WILLIAM H. H. SULLIVAN. Convicted of larceny, Third District Court of Eastern Middlesex, Jan. 20, 1904. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Oct. 26, 1904, for the purpose of undergoing a surgical operation, which was advised by prominent physicians.

No. 32. JOHN J. FITZGERALD. Convicted of rape, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May 18, 1904. Sentenced to the state prison for from three to five years. Pardoned Nov. 2, 1904, upon the recommendation of the district attorney, who had become satisfied since the trial that Fitzgerald was innocent of the crime for which he was convicted. The complainant made affidavit under oath that her testimony at the trial was false.

No. 33. MARY SWEENEY. Convicted of breaking glass, Police Court of Lynn, June 30, 1904. Sentenced to the reformatory prison for women on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Nov. 16, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners, to be sent to her home in Ireland, where her husband lived, and who had sent her a ticket for that purpose.

No. 34. HENRY F. COE. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Oct. 1, 1902. Sentenced to the state prison for from four to five years. Pardoned Nov. 23, 1904. Coe was dangerously ill with paralysis, with no possible hope of recovery.

Nos. 35, 36. CHARLES E. HAMMOND and FRED E. ROBERTS. Convicted of burning a building, etc., Superior Court, Middlesex county, Oct. 31, 1900. Sentenced to the state prison for from five to eight years. Pardoned Nov. 23, 1904, upon the recommendation of many of the leading citizens of Portland and Auburn, Me., and vicinity (including two ex-governors), where the prisoners formerly resided, and who had borne a good reputation previous to this affair. Hammond's wife was critically ill in a hospital, and Roberts' wife was an invalid, being cared for by friends. They had less than one year to serve.

Nos. 37, 38. CHARLES FRASER and MAX JACKSON. Convicted of larceny, Municipal Court, Boston, June 20, 1904. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Nov. 23, 1904. These two prisoners, eighteen years of age, with another boy, were arrested for the larceny of foreign postage stamps valued at $7. All the prisoners appealed. Fraser and Jackson later withdrew their appeal, and were sentenced to the reformatory. The case against the third boy was not pressed in the superior court, and the prisoner was discharged. If Fraser and Jackson had not withdrawn their appeal, their cases would have been not pressed also.

No. 39. THOMAS WHITE. Convicted of larceny, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Sept. 22, 1904. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Nov. 29, 1904, upon the recommendation of Judge Sherman, who imposed the sentence, the district attorney, and the chairman of the prison commissioners. Certain additional evidence had been submitted to the court since the trial. If it had been produced at the time of sentence the prisoner would have been placed on probation.

No. 40. STELLA GORDON. Convicted of being idle and disorderly, Municipal Court, Boston, Jan. 8, 1904. Sentenced to the reformatory prison for women on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Dec. 14, 1904, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners, who believed that she had been sufficiently punished, and hereafter would lead an upright life.

No. 41. CHARLES DEVLIN. Convicted of assault and robbery, Superior Court, Suffolk county, May term, 1898. Sentenced to the state prison for from eight to ten years. Pardoned Dec. 14, 1904. Two persons were tried at the same time with Devlin: one proved an alibi, the other was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory. Devlin was unable to prove an alibi, through lack of funds and friends to get his witnesses. The district attorney favored the pardon. The man who was assaulted was unable to identify him. He had been a model prisoner. The prison commissioners were of the opinion that the ends of justice had been satisfied.

No. 42. EDWARD J. SMITH. Convicted of robbery, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Dec. 18, 1900. Sentenced to the state prison for from eight to twelve years. Pardoned Dec. 14, 1904. Smith, with two companions, all equally guilty, were convicted of the larceny of $3.50 in money. The other two were sent to the house of correction for four years each. Smith, having served a sentence in the Massachusetts reformatory, was committed to the state prison. It was believed that he had been sufficiently punished.

No. 43. MATHEW G. BURNS. Convicted of an assault, with intent to commit rape, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Sept. 17, 1903. Sentenced to the house of correction for four years. Pardoned Dec. 16, 1904. Burns was convicted solely upon the testimony of a witness who has since the trial been found to be of bad repute. The prisoner had always borne a good reputation. It was believed that the ends of justice had been satisfied.

No. 44. JAMES NICHOLSON. Convicted of murder, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Dec. 20, 1884. Sentenced to be hanged March 27, 1885. Sentence commuted to imprisonment for life Feb. 27, 1885. Pardoned Dec. 22, 1904, as an act of executive clemency. Nicholson had been in prison for more than twenty years, and his record of deportment through all these years had been absolutely perfect. The crime was committed when he was under the influence of liquor. Grave doubt has always existed regarding his mental responsibility at the time the act was committed. It was believed by many that, had the circumstances which developed later been known at the time of the trial, he would have been sentenced for murder in the second degree, or for manslaughter. His release was urged by many prominent citizens, who believed that the ends of justice had been satisfied, and that he had been sufficiently punished.

No. 45. WILLIAM H. JORDAN. Convicted of an assault with intent to murder, Superior Court, Suffolk county, Feb. 18, 1897. Sentenced to the state prison for from eight to fifteen years. Pardoned Dec. 28, 1904. There were but seven weeks remaining of his sentence, and new evidence not submitted at the trial was presented which raised a strong doubt as to whether or not he was guilty of the crime for which he had been convicted.

No. 46. ROBERT J. COOK. Convicted of being a stubborn child, Municipal Court, Roxbury, April 26, 1904. Sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory on an indeterminate sentence. Pardoned Dec. 29, 1904, upon the request of the father of the prisoner, who made the complaint, and who regretted his hasty action, and with the concurrence of the judge who imposed the sentence. The governor and council were satisfied that the boy, who was seventeen years of age, had been sufficiently punished.

No. 47. GIOACCHINO COCCHIARA. Convicted of assault with pistol, Superior Court, Suffolk county, January term, 1897. Sentenced to the state prison for from nine to ten years. Pardoned Jan. 4, 1905, upon the recommendation of the prison commissioners. When he was convicted, in January, 1897, he was sentenced under a new law which took effect Jan. 1, 1896, and was given the maximum and minimum terms. His sentence was an illegal one, according to a decision afterwards rendered in a case of one Murphy, who was sentenced in 1896 for a crime committed before the new law went into effect.

His crime was committed in June, 1895, but he was not apprehended until a year later, when he was found in New York city and was brought back to Boston for trial. He should have been sentenced under the old law, which was in force when the crime was committed, and given a definite sentence, which, if not exceeding the time actually given under the new law, would have expired, deducting time for good behavior, in January, 1905.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, January 6, 1905.]

It is my duty to announce to the legislature the death on Thursday, January 5, 1905, of ex-governor William Claflin.

He was a faithful servant of the Commonwealth, and in his life was exemplified the true character and ideals of Massachusetts citizenship.

His death is a great bereavement to the people, and the Commonwealth is a sincere mourner.

I recommend that your honorable body take such action upon this sad event as may seem fitting to you.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, February 21, 1905.]

I have the honor to transmit for your consideration a report of the board of officers appointed by special order No. 52, A. G. O., current series, dated May 7, 1905, "To take into consideration the reorganization of the militia in conformity to the national militia law, and to submit a plan."

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, February 27, 1905.]

It is my duty to announce to the legislature the death on Monday, February 27, 1905, of ex-governor George S. Boutwell.

He was one of the foremost citizens of our Commonwealth. The best energies of his well-spent life were devoted to the public service, and in every position he served his country and his state faithfully and well.

His death is a great bereavement to the people, and the Commonwealth is a sincere mourner.

I recommend that such action be taken upon this sad event as may seem fitting to you.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, March 21, 1905.]

The alarming increase in the state debt, both direct and contingent, and the rapid increase in running expenses, should receive the serious and prompt attention of your honorable bodies.

From the abstract of the report of the treasurer for the year ending December 31, 1904, we learn that the net "direct" debt of the state, — that is, the debt incurred for state purposes and payable by the Commonwealth at large, — which decreased from over $22,000,000 in 1877 to $3,609,799 in 1893, has since increased to $15,576,595.

The net "contingent" debt, which began in 1889, has increased by leaps and bounds to $58,758,535 in 1904. Although this debt is not payable directly by the Commonwealth, and is incurred for the benefit of certain districts and for certain purposes, and is being met by direct annual tax on the cities and towns to which the Commonwealth has thus temporarily loaned its credit, yet the state is responsible for this debt.

* Fitchburg Railroad securities loan changed in 1901 from contingent to direct debt.

It thus appears that the direct debt of the Commonwealth on December 31, 1904, was $30,809,750, to meet which there was a sinking fund of $15,233,154.89, leaving a net debt of $15,576,595.11. The contingent debt of $64,989,412 is reduced by a sinking fund of $6,230,876.99 to $58,758,535.01. The total funded debt then was $95,799,162; the total sinking funds, $21,464,-031.88; and the total net debt, $74,335,130.12.

There is no question but what the assets of the state are more than sufficient to meet its indebtedness; but, on the other hand, would it not be better in the interests of the Commonwealth to stop the increase of the direct debt, as the total indebtedness of the state, including the direct and contingent, exceeds by far the indebtedness of other states?

Including the municipal indebtedness of the cities and towns of the Commonwealth, $195,062,222 on May 1, 1904, and the county debts, $3,221,726 on December 31, 1904, we have in this state a total public indebtedness of $294,093,697, or more than 9 per cent of the valuation of all the property in the state, — a valuation that is, in many parts of the state, considerably above the market value of property, even in good times.

If we deduct from this amount the total sinking funds, state, county and municipal, namely, $74,867,651, we have net debts of $219,226,047, or more than 6.4 per cent of the total assessed value of all property in the state.

In 1875 the state adopted as a settled policy the rule that net municipal indebtedness, exclusive of water debt, should not exceed 3 per cent of the valuation of property; but this limit has now been far exceeded, and our net state and municipal debt already exceeds what has been considered a safe limit, not only in this state but also in other states, as indicated by constitutional and statute law. Moreover, the debt is rapidly increasing.

The annual interest on this net debt is about $7,000,-000: the total taxes collected in 1904 for state, county and city or town purposes amounted to $66,748,301; therefore more than one tenth of all taxes now raised go to pay interest on our state, municipal and other public debts.

The business interests of our Commonwealth, our factories, shops, farms and homes, demand that our tax rate be decreased rather than increased. Unless new sources of revenue are found and utilized, our tax rate for state purposes must soon be double what it was last year.

Instead of continuing to increase debts and interest charges, we should, in my opinion, begin to decrease them. If this Commonwealth is to regain its reputation for conservative financial management, it must not further increase its already enormous debts, but must begin a healthy “pay-as-we-go” plan.

GROWTH OF EXPENDITURES.

How rapidly the expenses of the Commonwealth are increasing is shown by the following figures from the auditor's last report : —

Thus the estimated expenditures for 1905, even after deducting the unpaid liabilities of 1904, \$700,000, and "deficiencies," \$25,000, are \$9,709,874.55, which is 12 per cent more than the actual expenditures for 1904, 24 per cent more than those for 1903, and 41 per cent more than those for 1901. The very great increase for estimated expenditures for 1905, over actual expenditures for 1904, amounting to \$1,041,828.07, is partly accounted for by the fact that in 1904 no appropriation was made for sinking fund requirements, amounting to \$397,422.63. This one item would have brought the 1904 expenditures up to \$9,065,469.11, and would have reduced the estimate for 1905 to \$9,312,451.92. The 1904 expenditures would then have shown an increase of \$1,234,620.93, or about 16 per cent, over those of 1903; while in 1905, estimates would show an increase of only \$246,982.81, or about $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, over those of 1904.

Other items of expenditure in 1904 were abnormally low, and require explanation. A very noticeable reduction is evident in the expenditures for public buildings charged to revenue. This reduction is still more evident if we go back a few years. The following figures show the expenses for public buildings, paid out of "revenue":—

1898,	502,574 68
1899,	416,511 82
1900,	363,001 95
1901,	269,274 53
1902,	361,188 06
1903,	307,335 51
1904,	90,022 05

Thus the expenditures for "public buildings" in 1904 were over $230,000 below normal, as compared with the years 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903; and over $400,000 below the average for the years 1897, 1898 and 1899.

It appears that previous to 1901 the cost of making all ordinary repairs and improvements and of making additions and enlargements to our public buildings was met by appropriations from the receipts from general revenue. Since 1901, under authority of an act (chapter 471) passed to provide funds for the "construction and enlargement of certain public buildings", and of similar acts passed each year since then, most such expenses have been met from the sale of thirty-year sinking fund bonds. By a most liberal interpretation of the words "construction and enlargement", bonds have been issued under these acts for the purpose of concreting walks, building stone walls, electric light equipments, repairing and furnishing buildings, equipping with machinery, painting buildings, repairing buildings, putting in new heaters, tanks and pumps, making alterations, etc.

Since 1891, $2,175,500 of the "Prisons and Hospitals Loans" bonds have been issued, and the proceeds used for purposes which were formerly met in great part from revenue. This amount averages over half a million dollars a year. Most certainly such expenditures should be paid out of annual revenue. Not only is it unwise and improper, from a business standpoint, to issue bonds to pay for repairing, furnishing and equipping buildings, or for making alterations and improvements the life of which is shorter than that of the bonds, but it is inadvisable, from the standpoint of public policy, not to meet all such expenditures from our annual revenues. We should not ask or expect future generations to pay for what will not exist in their time, and for what is enjoyed wholly by us. Only when new buildings are constructed or when extensive enlargements are made, sufficient to meet requirements for years to come, should bonds be issued and the state debt permanently increased.

I strongly urge a return to the policy and practice that prevailed previous to 1901, when not only enlargements and improvements, but many new buildings, were paid for from our general revenue, and recommend that no further legislation be enacted under which the cost of temporary improvements and repairs may be defrayed by loans.

LAST YEAR'S STATE TAX INSUFFICIENT.

The state tax of last year did not provide sufficient revenue by over $300,000, although the actual receipts exceeded the estimated receipts by more than $340,000, and in addition the sinking fund requirements were not provided for.

In the accounting of the Commonwealth there is an item, entitled "cash on hand January 1", that needs explanation. This is set up as an item of revenue each year. This is misleading, although it is done under a requirement of the law. The balance of cash on hand has nothing to do with "revenue", unless it represents a surplus brought over from the previous year.

In the state accounts, however, the cash balance does not represent a surplus, for there are, on December 31, liabilities against this balance amounting to six hundred thousand or seven hundred thousand dollars. The liabilities consist mainly of December salaries and unpaid bills, which will be charged in January against the balances of appropriations unexpended. It is evident that only the excess of cash above these unpaid liabilities of the old year can be correctly considered a "revenue" item for the new year.

For example, it will be seen, by reference to the auditor's "Abstract", that the "revenue receipts" include $1,189,842.03 of cash balance January 1, 1905, brought forward from the old year. Against this asset there are estimated liabilities of $700,000, which, instead of being separately stated and offset against the cash balance, are listed among the estimated "expenses" of the new year.

The estimated expenses, as given, $10,434,874.55, include an item which must be deducted before comparisons can be made with the actual expenses of previous years. This item is "unexpended appropriations", $700,000. This item, as already explained, is the estimated liability on December 31, 1904, for unpaid bills, salaries, etc., under appropriations of the previous year. It is properly an offset to the cash on hand of December 31, and should be so designated in the auditor's report. As stated, at present in the auditor's report this important item is placed under a sub-title "interest, etc."

After making corrections, the figures should therefore read as follows:—

Estimated revenue receipts for 1905, $5,547,000 00

Cash surplus for 1904:—

Viz.: Cash balance,	$1,189,842 03
Less estimated liabilities, . .	700,000 00

To be provided for by state tax for 1905, . . .	$3,698,032 52
The estimate by the auditor one year ago (1904) was $2,387,813.03, while the actual state tax was . . .	2,500,000 00
Increase estimated for state tax, 1905 over 1904, . . .	$1,198,032 52
The cash surplus (cash balance, less estimated liabilities) at the beginning of 1904 was . . .	$796,749 28
The cash surplus at the beginning of 1905 was . . .	489,842 03
Decrease in cash surplus in 1904, . . .	$306,907 25

1904 TAX SHOULD HAVE BEEN MUCH HIGHER.

If to this decrease in the surplus cash ($300,000) there be added the requirements for sinking funds, which amounted to $397,422.63, and also the sum required for repairs, renewals, temporary constructions, etc., of public buildings, which was expended from proceeds of loans, amounting to fully $300,000 more, it is evident that the state tax last year should have been $3,500,000, instead of $2,500,000.

Had such a tax been levied and collected last year, then the proper burdens of that year would have been met out of the collections of that year; and the present year, 1905, would have been called upon to meet only its own burdens, viz. : —

Estimated expenses, including sinking fund requirements for the year,	$9,337,451 92*
Provisions for public buildings, repairs, etc.,	300,000 00
	$9,637,451 92

which would have required a state tax for 1905 of about the same amount as was required in 1904, viz., $3,500,000.

As things are, however, it becomes necessary to increase this tax by the last year's sinking funds, unprovided for in the tax levy of 1904 ($397,000), which, even without the additional or extraordinary appropriations, will bring the necessary amount of the state tax this year to about four million dollars, against the insufficient levy of $2,500,000 last year.

* $10,434,874.55, less sinking funds unprovided last year and less unpaid liabilities of last year.

SOME OF THE 1905 INCREASES EXPLAINED.

It will be noted that the large increases are as follows:—

(1) Sinking funds for two years, $727,650.29.

(2) Interest, \$151,081.18, which consists of two components: (a) Receipts of accrued interest on bonds sold for 1905 are unknown; they cannot be estimated and deducted from interest payments. These accrued items in 1904 amounted to \$114,473.49, of which \$49,262.87 were received from a settlement of old accounts with the metropolitan district. (b) Interest on "direct debt", 1905, is estimated at \$858,414, while interest on same paid in 1904 is stated as \$831,414.87, — an increase for 1905 of about \$27,000. The increase of "direct debt" in excess of increase of sinking funds in 1904 was about \$800,000, and interest on this sum at about $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent may account for the \$27,000 mentioned as increase.

(3) The increase from estimate for decennial census, $275,000, explains itself.

(4) Increase in "charitable", $69,596.57, which consists of increase, "state board of charity", $29,000; "institutions", $83,000; total, $112,000; decrease, state board of insanity, $4,000; net increase, about $108,000; which is accounted for by the $69,000 above, in addition to some $38,000 of miscellaneous payments of last year's charities not included in the estimates for 1905.

The increased expenditure for charitable and reformatory institutions and for agriculture, etc., in 1905 over 1904, and in 1904 over 1903, while very great, are accounted for largely: (1) by the assumption by the state of the care of all the insane; (2) by the great increase in the cost of living, which has increased the cost of maintaining all of our public institutions; (3) by the increase in the number of insane, paupers and criminals, due only in part to increasing population.

(5) The other increases are partially offset by the decreases in "educational" and in "commissions", etc., but it should be noted that there were in 1904 nearly $300,000 of miscellaneous expenses, including items on account of appropriations in 1901 and 1903, whose correlatives, if any, have not been estimated for 1905.

Taking probable requirements of similar nature for 1905, together with extraordinary appropriations which may be made by the legislature, not estimated in the auditor's total, and it is evident that another half million dollars must be added to the state tax, bringing it to $4,500,000 this year, if all of the running expenses for 1905, as well as the sinking fund deficit for 1904, are to be met out of current revenue and receipts, i.e., out of ordinary receipts of the year, plus surplus from last year and plus the state tax.

Such is the situation that confronts our Commonwealth. It should receive our serious consideration. We should make provisions for adequate revenue with which to meet all running expenses, and should issue bonds and increase the state's indebtedness only as a final resort.

INHERITANCE TAX.

It being reasonably certain that our expenditures will continue to increase faster than our resources, and that the tax levy for state purposes will impose a heavier and heavier burden upon our industries, it is most desirable that we find, if possible, new sources of revenue.

Perhaps the most important and certain new source of revenue available for state purposes is that of an inheritance or legacy tax. A reasonable tax on property passing to the heirs of a deceased person would not burden industry, oppress the tax payer or drive property from this state. If assessed only after making proper exemptions, it constitutes, in my opinion, one of the fairest and least objectionable taxes that can be levied. It is also easy to collect.

In this country 24 states have adopted the inheritance tax since 1890. At present 16 states apply this tax only to collateral heirs, and 14 states also apply it to direct heirs.

An inheritance tax patterned somewhat after that of Wisconsin, but with greater exemptions, and with lower graduated rates, would, in my opinion, not only constitute an almost ideal tax for state purposes, but would enable us to reduce rather than increase the general property tax.

Massachusetts is one of the 16 states that now taxes only collateral inheritances. A 5 per cent collateral legacy tax last year yielded $562,000 in revenue. This tax is levied on the estate, but only on the excess of $500, which passes. Based upon estimates contained in the report of the tax commissioner of 1897, it is probable that a tax averaging 2 per cent on direct inheritances would yield about $1,000,000 in revenue. Should a general inheritance tax be graduated according to amounts inherited by heirs, and be made progressive as the relationship of the heir to the deceased diminishes, it ought easily to yield $2,000,000 of revenue, or half of all now raised for state purposes by a general property tax.

The commission appointed in 1896 to "inquire into the expediency of revising and amending the laws of the Commonwealth relating to taxation" were unanimously in favor of no other new tax except that on inheritances, although there was some difference of opinion as to whether the tax should be flat or graduated. The majority report, signed by four out of the five members of the commission, favored a tax of 5 per cent on direct inheritances. It said, in part : —

A tax on inheritances and successions has the great advantage of using administrative machinery already in existence. The probate courts already supervise the estates passing on death. Some examination of the property takes place in any event. By making that examination somewhat more careful and stringent, an effective collection of the tax can be secured. No declaration is required from any one except the executor or administrator, who is already accountable to the court. . . .

We believe that the community is prepared for this form of taxation, and that public opinion will approve it, — a powerful factor in aid of its efficient collection. Hence, notwithstanding a possibility of some evasion, we are confident that an inheritance tax can be satisfactorily administered and collected.

The burden of such a tax is in most cases borne with comparative ease.

The arguments in favor of a tax on direct inheritances are as much stronger to-day than they were in 1897, as the need of revenue is now greater than it was then.

I strongly recommend the passage of a law taxing direct inheritances, — or, what would perhaps be better, a general inheritance tax law, which would include or supersede our present law taxing only collateral inheritances. Such a tax would constitute one of the principal sources of revenue for the state, and would neither tax our homes nor oppress our industries.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 7, 1905.]

I transmit herewith draft of a bill prepared by the officers of the federal government with relation to the acquisition of territory within this Commonwealth for the purposes of the national government. It would seem that legislation substantially in accord with that so proposed is consistent with the public interests of this Commonwealth, and in accord with legislative precedents of the Commonwealth. I suggest, however, that the phraseology of the proposed enactment be carefully reviewed, and, in some particulars, amended to the end that the concurrent jurisdiction of this Commonwealth within the acquired territory shall, in all matters of criminal and civil processes, be securely and indisputably preserved, and that the provisions with relation to the revesting of such exclusive jurisdictional rights of the Commonwealth be certainly provided for in the event that the federal government should hereafter abandon the territory to be acquired.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 13, 1905.]

I have the honor to transmit herewith for the consideration of your honorable bodies, a communication addressed to the governor and council on behalf of governor Chamberlain of Oregon, the Management of the Lewis and Clark Exposition at Portland, and the Board of Managers for Massachusetts of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 17, 1905.]

In the annual report of the prison commissioners attention is called to the crowded condition of the state prison at Charlestown where the population has exceeded for some time the single cell capacity of the buildings. This crowded condition cannot be materially relieved by transfers or releases. The need of more room is therefore imperative, as the law requires that there shall be as many separate cells as prisoners. To enlarge the cell buildings at Charlestown would involve great and disproportionate expense, and even if an extension of them could be made of sufficient capacity, there would yet seem to be many strong reasons against a further outlay at this place. All the cell buildings, with the exception of the north wing extension and the separate imprisonment buildings, are old and inconveniently arranged. As far as cleanliness is concerned the present buildings are not open to serious objection, because every possible effort is made to keep them in good condition in that respect; but they have nevertheless many limitations as to usefulness.

The restricted area of the prison lot forbids the general employment of prisoners except in a few industries. There is, moreover, considerable annoyance from the proximity of the railroad, and there are many other disturbing causes in the neighborhood. It is the opinion of many persons familiar with the subject, that all the interests concerned would be better served by a change of location than by an enlargement of the old prison.

In modern and well adapted buildings, much more than is now possible could be done to classify the prisoners and give them opportunities for work and instruction. Mechanical employments could still be supplied for those who apparently would be most benefited by that sort of work. On a large tract of land a variety of agricultural pursuits would furnish useful occupations for the prisoners not adapted to other industries. The dictates of humanity would favor a change on behalf of those prisoners who are to be held in continual custody; and a due regard for the public welfare also requires the largest consideration for the health and proper training of those who at varying periods are to complete their terms of imprisonment.

In presenting this subject to the legislature in their annual report, the prison commissioners disclaimed any purpose to recommend a new location of the prison if the removal should involve any addition to the state debt. The plan of providing a new prison which has been brought to my attention, and to which I have given careful consideration, does not contemplate any additional taxation. It is proposed that if the land now occupied for prison purposes could be sold at a fair price the proceeds would substantially defray the expenses of erecting a new prison elsewhere. And if there should be any deficiency in the amount, that could be supplied from the prison industries fund.

If the prison is removed it should be placed upon a large tract of land, and should be so situated that as far as possible any annoyance to the citizens would be avoided. With these requirements in view some investigation has been made as to a possible location of a prison if it should be decided to make the removal. Among other suggestions a report has been submitted to me in regard to an island site, to which I invite special attention.

In that report it is urged that the island of Nashawena possesses peculiar advantages as a site for the state prison. It is substantially unoccupied, and although at one time it was divided into farms of good tillage, it is now practically waste land. In area it is about two thousand acres, being three miles long and one mile wide. It would furnish abundant opportunities for outdoor employment for all the prisoners who would be adapted to that work, or who would be benefited by it, and the buildings could be so arranged as to give all needed facilities for grading and classifying of prisoners. The island is situated about six miles from the nearest point of the mainland, is fourteen miles from New Bedford, and thirteen miles from Woods Hole. As far as water borne freights are concerned it would have a decided advantage in respect to economy over any interior situation on the mainland. It can be reached even in the depth of winter without serious obstacle. It has an abundant water supply, and sewage could be readily discharged into an ocean tide. All its physical features are well adapted to promote economy and convenience of administration. At one point on the island the land rises to an altitude of 140 feet above the sea, and from this point and some others of lesser height, the whole island could easily be overlooked. It should be noted especially that if this island were occupied for prison purposes, escapes could be prevented without the construction of a high wall; that there would be no abutting owners or neighbors whose protests or actions would be annoying or injurious to the administration; that the temperature is more equable than in the region of Boston, being from eight to ten degrees warmer in the winter, and about as much cooler in the summer; and that there would shortly be an opportunity to produce a large part of the supplies needed for subsistence.

I offer for your consideration the suggestion that if this island were thus acquired it might furnish a ready solution of the question now pending before the general court as to the disposition of the few lepers within the borders of Massachusetts. Upon one point of the island that projects into Buzzard's Bay a sufficient lot of land could easily be separated from the other parts of the island by a strong barrier, and be devoted to the leper hospital. This hospital would then be situated more than a mile from the nearest buildings used for prison purposes, and could be so guarded and secluded as to avoid all apprehension on the score of communication.

I have learned that this island can be bought for a reasonable price, and it might be worth while to consider the acquisition of it at the present time for the purpose of securing a place for the leper hospital. If the island is taken now, the leper hospital can be immediately constructed and made ready for occupancy this year, and there would always be on hand a suitable site for a state prison whenever it seemed desirable to make the removal, or the new establishment could be erected without an addition to the debt.

A further proposition that is worthy of consideration is that until sufficient funds to complete the prison are available, there might be provided in the new situation suitable buildings for the accommodation of such a number of convicts as it would be necessary to remove from Charlestown to bring the population within the normal capacity of the prison.

I earnestly commend this subject to your careful consideration, and I strongly recommend the adoption of the plan herein suggested.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 18, 1905.]

It appears from recent experience of the Commonwealth that sections 7 and 8 of chapter 73, Revised Laws, need amendment in order to make the law fully effective against the business sought to be prohibited by its terms.

I ask of the general court consideration of the matter and such action as seems necessary.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 24, 1905.]

I return herewith, with my objections in writing, an act entitled "An Act to incorporate the Massachusetts Casualty Company."

This act gives to certain men named therein the right to incorporate as a casualty company with the privilege of transacting business under both the 4th and 5th clauses of section 29, chapter 118 of the Revised Laws, with only the amount of capital now required to do business under one of these clauses.

An act of this nature is, in my judgment, against the interests of the people of the Commonwealth. It is contrary to the provisions of our insurance laws, which divide insurance into certain classes and allow a corporation to do business in only one of the classes, and require it to have a capital of not less than $200,000 for such one class. The provisions of this act allow the corporation to do business under two classes with only the amount of capital now required to do business under one.

The policy of the insurance law of our Commonwealth should be respected. Its provisions are the carefully prepared results of years of experience and have received the approval of successive legislatures. Its safeguards are adopted for the protection not only of the policy holders, but of the public at large. That the protection of the public should be considered before dividends to the stockholders cannot be doubted. The amount of the capital stock required of the incorporators for the purposes of transacting business has been a most useful safeguard for the public interests, assuring as it does not only the responsibility of the incorporators, but that the company will have sufficient capital to protect the public by commencing with a properly equipped business and by having sufficient resources to meet any losses which might occur. No company is doing a business within the Commonwealth under a special charter of this nature, and should any change be deemed necessary in our insurance law, such change ought to apply to all alike.

In addition to being directly opposed to the long established policy of our state, this bill is particularly objectionable as special legislation. By its terms it grants a peculiar privilege to a favored few. It has long been the policy of our Commonwealth not only to protect the life and property of its citizens by laws framed with care for their protection, but it has been especially its policy to see that all men were treated equally, and that no group of men should be granted special privileges to do business under circumstances more favorable to them than to other citizens of the Commonwealth.

Feeling that this act seeks to violate the principles of our insurance laws, which have been created for the proper protection of the public, and that it is particularly objectionable in view of its attempt to give a special few privileges denied to the citizens at large, I return the same herewith without my approval.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 24, 1905.]

Herewith is transmitted for your information and action a letter from Fitzhugh Lee, relative to the celebration of the three hundredth anniversary of the permanent settlement of the English speaking people on this continent.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, April 26, 1905.]

By an act of congress, known as River and Harbor Bill, approved March 3, 1905, the following appropriations were made for the improvement of waterways lying within the city of Quincy and the town of Weymouth of this Commonwealth, in the following language :—

“Improving Town River, Massachusetts: completing improvement, nine thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven dollars and forty-one cents.

“Improving Weymouth Fore River, Massachusetts, in accordance with the report submitted in house document numbered thirty-six, fifty-eighth congress, second session: completing improvement, fifty-seven thousand five hundred dollars: provided, that no part of this sum shall be expended until the secretary of war shall have received satisfactory assurance that the improvement of that portion of the Weymouth river which lies above the improvement herein mentioned, and of the Town river, except so much as is herein provided for, shall hereafter be maintained by the state of Massachusetts, or other agency, without expense to the government of the United States.”

You will note that the expenditure of the sum of $57,500 for the dredging of a channel 300 feet wide and 18 feet deep in the Weymouth Fore river from the termination of the existing 18 foot channel of the Quincy Point bridge, a distance of about one mile, is conditional upon an assurance to be given to the secretary of war that the improvement of that portion of the Weymouth Fore river which lies above the Quincy Point bridge, and of the Town river, shall hereafter be maintained by the state of Massachusetts, or other agency, without expense to the government of the United States.

I am informed that by chapter 440 of the acts of 1903, the state made an appropriation of $25,000 for dredging the channel of the Weymouth Fore river, and a certain portion of the contemplated work has been completed, leaving a balance of this appropriation available amounting to $14,764.13.

I am also informed that this sum will complete such improvements above the points of the work to be undertaken by the general government as are necessary to take full advantage of these improvements.

The matter is referred for your consideration and such action as seems proper.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, May 8, 1905.]

On the twenty-seventh day of April, 1904, the congress of the United States passed an act appropriating the sum of $1,611,740.85 to reimburse the state of Massachusetts for money paid to put troops in the field during the civil war, and May 2, 1904, the secretary drew a warrant therefor, payable to the governor of Massachusetts, and delivered the same to John B. Cotton of Washington, D. C.

Since then the officers of the Commonwealth and Mr. Cotton have been at variance about the possession of the warrant and the payment of the compensation reserved in the contract between the Commonwealth and himself.

The undisputed facts in substance are as follows :

The late governor Wolcott had under consideration in 1898 the advisability of employing an agent or attorney to prosecute the claims of the state against the United States for sums expended during the war of the rebellion which had not been previously collected.

On Jan. 23, 1899, at the governor's request, Mr. Cotton wrote a long letter, calling attention to the laws of the United States under which claims were due to the Commonwealth, and stating the grounds upon which a claim for interest on the state bonds issued in 1861-2 for a war loan might be recovered.

After interviews and correspondence between the governor, attorney-general and Mr. Cotton, the executive council on July 12, 1899, passed the following vote :—

It was voted: that the attorney-general be authorized to employ John B. Cotton of Washington, D. C., to represent this Commonwealth in the prosecution of certain claims for interest money paid by the Commonwealth for loans incurred to meet the expenses of raising troops for the war of the rebellion. The compensation for such employment not to exceed ten per cent of the amount collected.

The following members of the council were present at the meeting:—W. M. Crane, N. F. Ryder, Geo. N. Swallow, Parley A. Russell, M. V. B. Jefferson, Chas. I. Quirk.

The attorney-general, on July 15, 1899, wrote Mr. Cotton and enclosed the contract for his examination and signature. July 19, 1899, he wrote governor Wolcott enclosing the contract signed by Mr. Cotton in duplicate, suggesting the execution thereof by his excellency and affixing the seal of the Commonwealth; and July 26, 1899, he forwarded one copy of the contract duly executed by the governor to Mr. Cotton. This completed the contract between the parties, a copy of which is as follows : —

Memorandum of an agreement and appointment made this eighteenth day of July, A.D. 1899, by and between the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, by Roger Wolcott, its governor, on the one part, and John B. Cotton of Washington, District of Columbia, on the other part : —

Witnesseth, whereas, Said Commonwealth of Massachusetts has a claim against the United States for “costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by said state for enrolling, subsisting, clothing, supplying, arming, equipping, paying and transporting its troops engaged in aiding to suppress the insurrection against the United States” between the years 1861 and 1865, both inclusive, under and by virtue of an act entitled “An Act to indemnify the states for expenses incurred by them in defence of the United States”, approved July 27, 1861, and the resolution approved March 8, 1862, declaratory of the intent and meaning of the act aforesaid; and

Whereas, Said Commonwealth of Massachusetts is about to present to the treasury department of the United States its claim aforesaid :

Now, therefore, Said Roger Wolcott, governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, for and in consideration that said John B. Cotton has agreed to present, prosecute and endeavor to recover before the court of claims, the supreme court of the United States, and the treasury department of the United States, said claim of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has appointed and does hereby appoint said John B. Cotton its agent and attorney to present, prosecute and recover the claims as aforesaid on the terms and conditions hereinafter specified.

Said John B. Cotton agrees to prepare, present, prosecute and endeavor to recover before said court of claims, the supreme court of the United States, and the treasury department of the United States, the claim aforesaid on behalf of said Commonwealth of Massachusetts at a compensation of ten per centum of the entire sum collected, payable only out of any sums that may be collected hereunder, and without any liability on behalf of said Commonwealth of Massachusetts for expenses incurred by said Cotton in the prosecution of said claim in bringing of petitions, taking depositions, employing of expert accountants, printing of records and briefs, fees of commissioners, costs of court or of any other expense of any kind or nature whatsoever, excepting only the clerical assistance hereinafter specified : and said John B. Cotton does further agree to make and present to the governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts or the attorney-general or any other officer of said Commonwealth designated by the governor, at the end of each six months, or oftener if thereto requested, a full report concerning the status and condition of said claim.

It is further understood and agreed that said John B. Cotton shall give prompt attention to the prosecution of said claim, and that he shall be furnished by the proper department of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts facilities and clerical assistance of department clerks for the examination of the books and records of said Commonwealth in relation to said claim, necessary and proper for making up, presentation and prosecution thereof.

In witness whereof, Said Roger Wolcott, governor of said Commonwealth, and in behalf thereof, has hereunto set his hand, and caused the seal of said Commonwealth to be hereto affixed, and said John B. Cotton has hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year first above written.

Signed and sealed in duplicate in presence of

ROGER WOLCOTT,
Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
JOHN B. COTTON.

[SEAL OF THE COMMONWEALTH
OF MASSACHUSETTS.]

It will appear from the length of time that this matter was under discussion, and from a review of all the correspondence prior to the execution of the contract, that this contract was made only after the most careful and deliberate consideration, and that the authorized representatives of the Commonwealth, including senators and representatives in the congress, regarded the employment of an agent or attorney to prosecute this claim as a wise and proper thing to do. I know of no reason to question the correctness of their judgment.

A question has been raised as to whether the contract was an authorized and valid contract. The attorney-general has expressed grave doubt as to the validity of the contract and its execution. He has doubts as to the authority of the treasurer to pay the compensation reserved without a legislative resolve, whether the contract is legal or not.

It may be said, in favor of carrying out the contract and paying the compensation as stated, that the governor and council authorized the employment of Cotton, the attorney-general drew the contract and forwarded it to Mr. Cotton for signature and then to the governor, the governor signed it and the seal of the Commonwealth was affixed, the attorney-general forwarded a copy to Cotton, and Mr. Cotton filed a copy of it with the treasury department at Washington and thereupon entered upon the performance of his contract.

In due course of time he secured the finding of the comptroller, and the congress appropriated the money in accordance with the finding: the warrant was subsequently delivered to Mr. Cotton as agent or attorney of Massachusetts, in accordance with the long practice of the department.

No one will question the fact that all the officers of the Commonwealth acted with the utmost good faith, and believed that they were making with Mr. Cotton an authorized and binding contract. It would now seem wise to waive any technicalities, if they exist, and conform to the terms of the employment, which was entered into deliberately and in good faith by both parties.

The Commonwealth is recovering by this appropriation the interest it paid on its bonds issued in 1861 and 1862 for the benefit of the United States. The coupons on these bonds might have been paid in paper currency. But every six months the Commonwealth bought gold and paid its creditors in the same currency which they loaned to the Commonwealth. That was not necessary, but his excellency governor Andrew thought good faith required it, and the state has received well-deserved praise for its action. I submit to you whether it is not wise to deal with this contract in a similar spirit.

The letters and papers are all accessible. If it seems wise, all doubt may be removed as to the legality of the contract or the authority of the treasurer to pay the compensation mentioned therein, and long and vexatious litigation may be ended by the passage of a resolve in substance like the one attached hereto.

I earnestly suggest the passage of such a resolution.

By request of the secretary of war I herewith transmit for your consideration an act to amend an act approved June 8, 1898, entitled "An Act to approve the purchase by the United States of two tracts of land in the town of Hull, and to cede jurisdiction over the same to the national government."

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, May 19, 1905.]

I return herewith, with my objections in writing, an act entitled "An Act to authorize the town of Natick to erect a municipal building and to borrow money therefor."

This bill is special legislation. It authorizes the town of Natick to borrow money outside of the limit of indebtedness fixed by the general law of the state. This law is a wise one, and should be disregarded only in cases of most urgent necessity. The interests of our taxpayers, of our producers, and of the Commonwealth as a whole, demand that public indebtedness be restricted and that the tax rate be kept as low as possible. Such a law inspires confidence and tends to induce capitalists to invest in this state. If exceptions to it are made frequently and on slight pretences, capital will feel insecure and will be withdrawn from the state, to the great injury of our industries and of all of our citizens.

While there may be great need of a municipal building in Natick, it does not appear to me that the need is sufficiently urgent to warrant a violation of one of our best general laws.

For the reasons then that this bill is special legislation, that it impairs the general law limiting the indebtedness of cities and towns, and that it allows a town to incur a debt outside of the statutory limit without sufficient reason therefor, I return it without my approval.

I return herewith, with my objections in writing, an act entitled "An Act to authorize the city of New Bedford to incur certain indebtedness beyond the limit fixed by law, and to issue bonds, notes or scrip therefor."

This is a special act, and is contrary to the general law of the Commonwealth, which wisely limits the indebtedness of cities. This general law has long been upon our statute books, and was designed to prevent cities from accumulating indebtedness burdensome to the taxpayers. Exceptions from the provisions of this general law should be permitted only when some urgent public necessity demands it.

The bill returned herewith asks permission to incur indebtedness to the extent of three hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars beyond the limit fixed by law.

In my opinion if the debt limit of cities and towns is to be extended, it should be by a general law, rather than by special legislation.

This bill is objectionable because it is special legislation, and is in direct opposition to the long established general law of the Commonwealth. Therefore I return the bill without my signature.

[To the honorable senate and house of representatives, May 24, 1905.]

I return herewith an act entitled "An Act to authorize the payment of money to certain veterans of the civil war."

The bill seeks to authorize the payment by the Commonwealth to every veteran of the civil war who served to the credit of Massachusetts, living at the passage of the act, and who was not a conscript or substitute, the sum of $125, excepting those who received a bounty. This payment is to be met by the use of a sum not to exceed $350,000.

Bounties were paid to certain soldiers of the civil war at the time of their enlistment, some by the state, and some by certain cities and towns. The number of veterans who are now living who would be entitled to a bounty under the provisions of this act it is impossible to ascertain. The cities and towns paid bounties to certain men who enlisted, but the records of such payments are in many instances incomplete and unreliable.

This act would attempt to impose on the state an unascertained liability. An investigation based on such facts as can be obtained, however, indicates very clearly that the amount appropriated, $350,000, would be entirely inadequate to carry out the intent of the act, and that the amount required would be several times the sum provided for.

This bill is similar to chapter 458 of the acts of the year 1904. On July 20, 1904, the governor and council passed an order requesting the opinion of the justices of the supreme judicial court upon certain questions relative to that act, one of which was its constitutionality. On September 21, 1904, the justices returned an answer to this request, which may be found in Vol. 186 of Massachusetts Reports, page 601, stating that the expenditure of money proposed in that act was for a use which was not public but private, and that therefore the statute was not in conformity with the constitution of the Commonwealth.

The act herein returned bore so close a resemblance to the previous act of 1904 that it was deemed wise by the senate to request the opinion of the attorney-general and in pursuance of that request the attorney-general advised the senate on May 15, 1905, that the act which is now before me is open to the objections of the act of 1904 and is unconstitutional. The provisions of this act are designated as unconstitutional by the legal adviser of the Commonwealth, on an opinion sustained and based on several decisions of our supreme court.

The authority of the governor is measured by the constitution. He is chosen to do what it permits and nothing more, and has taken solemn oath to obey and support it. Should he disregard its provisions, he would usurp his authority, abuse his trust and violate the promise which he made to the people, confirmed by his oath of office. To sign an act which is shown to be in violation of the principles of the constitution is to treat as of no force the most imperative obligations any person can assume.

I therefore return this act, as I deem it unsatisfactory by its provisions, as it imposes an unascertained liability on the Commonwealth, and as the money which the act seeks to appropriate would be insufficient to carry out its intent, but especially in view of what I feel to be my duty on account of my advice that it is unconstitutional.
